ARMS CUT PLAN VEXES JAPAN

REFUSES TO SIGN DRAFT OF TREATY

Japanese Delegates At Geneva Decline To Fix Signatures To Disarmament Protocol Making Arbitration of Disputes Mandatory---Action Comes As a Surprise.

(International News Service.)

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Japan today refused to sign the arbitration protocol proposed by the League of Nations.

The arbitration agreement was to be part of the general disarmament scheme fostered by Premier Macdonald, of England, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France.

France wished arbitration to be arbitrary. It was drawn up along that line.

Nearly all nations intimated their willingness to accept the arbitration protocol. The action by Japan came as a surprise, therefore.

Three League of Nations commissions were asked to make preparations for a disarmament conference and draw up the arbitration protocol. While Japan has refused to sign the protocol, it is believed she will participate in the disarmament meeting next year. Whether or not the United States will take part has not yet been revealed.

Issues Statement.

M. Adachi, Japanese delegate to the league meeting, issued a statement, saying:

"It is with the greatest regret that, in the name of my delegation I must register complete reserve from the entire protocol."

Japan insisted upon the creation of conciliation jurisdiction which would enable the losing party in the international court to appeal to the court of review for the case. Australia opposed such a move.

Japan's attitude toward the arbitration protocol was contained in a formal communication to the league. In some quarters it is believed the disturbed situation in the far east was responsible for Tokio's action. Evidently the Japanese government is considering the consequences of intervention in China because of the civil war raging there.

Nations In Dispute.

The Pekinese government and soviet Russia are in dispute, which adds another complication in the oriental situation.

So far Japan has made no move toward intervention, but there are indications that Japanese sentiment is swinging in that direction.

The arbitration protocol proposed that decisions of the international court at The Hague should be final upon questions of international law.

A hypothetical case would be an appeal to the international court to decide the international legality of the American law excluding Japanese. If the court upheld the law as purely domestic, arbitration would be impossible for Japan to appeal. Consequently if Japan ever went to hostilities over the question that country would automatically be the aggressor.

Sir Cecil Hurst of Great Britain, held a long conference with the Japanese but was unable to alter their decision.

M. Loucheur, of France, attempted to have the Japanese put off a final decision until tomorrow. He proposed a fomula he believed acceptable to Tokio, but Adachi rejected it.

To Probe German Arms.

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Several plans for the investigation of German armaments by the council of the league of nations, as authorized under the Versailles treaty, are under consideration by the council.

BANDITS ROB BANK, PAYROLL

Robbers In Widely Separated Parts of Chicago Work at Almost Same Moment and Make Hauls Estimated at About $20,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Three bandits held up the West City Trust and Savings bank shortly before noon today and escaped with an undetermined amount of money which officials said might run high into the thousands.

Almost at the same moment, in another section of the city, six men in two automobiles crowded the paymaster of a north side glass concern to the curb and robbed him of the company's $10,000 payroll while they held scores of pedestrians within a block at bay with revolvers and escaped.

After a preliminary check, West City bank officials said the loot would be approximately $4,000 or $10,000.

Kiwanians Give Luncheon For Gridiron Men

Captain Ed Weir and his squad of doughty gridiron warriers with their coaches were guests of the Kiwanis club at a noonday luncheon Friday, which turned into a preseason "pep" meeting.

Each of the fifty football men present was accorded an ovation when he was introduced by Captain Weir.

Head Coach Fred Dawson announced that "as usual he would not predict anything," but gave assurance that every man on the team would "give everything he had" during the season.

S. C. Waugh, formerly president of the club gave a rousing talk and picked a football team from the members present "to clash with the Cornhuskers tomorrow."

Speaking seriously, Waugh then assured the team of united Kiwanis support and paid tribute to the men and their various coaches, who were introduced by Dawson.

J. W. Searson, of the University Publishing Co., gave an inspiring talk on sportsmanship in athletics and told of his experiences at the Olympics. He told of of Nurmi, Finn runner, who won individual honors at the last Olympiad largely because he took the games seriously, religiously, praying before he entered competition. Nurmi and the Greek athlete of old days were held up as models of sportsmanship and powerful influence for the development of athletics.

Miss Marjorie Clark entertained with several musical readings.

PROCLAIMS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

To Instruct People In Matter Of Preserving Life and Property.

Second Week In October Set Aside For Purpose By Governor.

One day was considered sufficient for the national military defense test, but a whole week is to be devoted to defense against fires under the proclamation issued Friday by Governor Bryan calling for the observance of "fire prevention week," in Nebraska beginning October 6. The same week is set aside generally throughout the country. The governor says:

"Fire is often one of the greatest menaces to life and property which we have to contend with. The annual destruction by fire in property and human lives is appalling. This destruction is due mainly to carelessness, ignorance, and lack of proper precaution as to the means of fire prevention.

"The old adage, 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' may be appropriately applied to the prevention of fire. Not only the children but all citizens of the state should be impressed with the importance of fire prevention. The problem of how best to protect our homes, schools, factories, and all other property against destruction by fire should be a matter of constant practice and instruction.

"I desire to call particular attention to the importance of having electric wiring and heating equipment, including chimneys, examined and made safe. All public buildings such as schools, churches theatres, hotels, hospitals and factories should be equipped with adequate exit facilities. Regular fire drills should be practiced, especially in the schools.

"Therefore, I, Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, do proclaim and set apart October 6 to 11 as fire prevention week, and suggest that chambers of commerce and other civic organizations including woman's clubs make arrangements for speakers so that all schools of the state and the people generally may have the benefit of instructive addresses on the subject of fire prevention."

In addition to the other awards Gray received a bronze medal, representing two years work in class. Chenoweth was awarded a silver medal, for three years work.

A class in public speaking was inaugurated at the opening of the present semester. Professor Enid Miller is in charge of the class. At the exercises Friday, Professor Miller appealed to the students to support the student debators of the fraternity.

Complains Because No Action Taken To Suspend Funk

F. A. High has written a letter to Governor Bryan complaining because no steps have been taken to suspend County Attorney W. D. Funk of Knox county, whom High accuses of failing to prosecute bootlegging defendants on more than one count each. He requests that a date be fixed by the governor for hearing the case.

County Attorney Funk recently furnished proof to Governor Bryan that he had prosecuted a number of liquor cases and obtained convictions in all of them. He claims to have the people of Knox county behind him. Mr. Funk told the governor he is in sympathy with the dry law and has been more active in enforcing it than his predecessors were. He declares, however, to prosecute cases in which the evidence is not complete enough to make convictions probable.

BURGLARS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO ROB STATE BANK

Break Into Institution at Burwell But Do Not Blow Safe.

Work May Be That of Gang Which Looted Nebraska City Postoffice.

Get $700 In Cash.

The Burwell robbers obtained $700 in cash and $1,100 in stamps, government property taken to the bank for safekeeping, it was reported this afternoon.

Bloodhounds put on the trail failed to get a scent. The robbers failed to get into the safe.

Yeggs attempted to rob the Farmers State bank at Burwell, Neb., last night. They succeeded in gaining entrance to the building through a back door and dug a hole through the wall of the vault, but apparently made no attempt to blow the safe. A number of private lock boxes were rifled but no estimate of the loss was given in the report of Cashier Foley to the State law enforcement department early Friday morning.

The work was similar to that of the Nebraska City postoffice robbery a few days ago and the officers are led to believe that it was probably done by the same men.

The attempted robbery was not discovered until Cashier Foley opened up the bank Friday morning. It is believed that the safe was not blown because it was of the newest and most modern type and would have required a great deal of work to apply the explosive.

The thieves left no trace or indication as to what direction they went. State Sheriff Tom Carroll said this morning that a finger print expert and an investigator would be sent to Burwell immediately.

WHEELER ARRIVAL WILL BE QUIET

Independent Candidate to Speak In Lincoln Saturday Evening.

No organized demonstration of greeting to Senator B. K. Wheeler, independent candidate for vice president, is planned by his followers when he comes to Lincoln Saturday afternoon for his evening speech at the auditorium. A number of La Follette and Wheeler supporters, however, will be at the Burlington station to meet him on his arrival from Omaha at 5:55 o'clock.

Frank Harrison, regional campaign director sent Wheeler a telegram Friday morning, inviting him to stay over Sunday in Lincoln, inasmuch as he is not billed for another address until Monday evening, in Denver, and can easily reach that city by making a night journey Sunday from here.

The auditorium is being appropriately decorated for the Saturday night meeting at which Wheeler is expected to make one of his most important speeches during his western tour, this being the home of both his opponents.

C. C. Flansburg of Lincoln will preside. Congressman Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, who has been campaigning in Nebraska, will meet Wheeler here and confer with him on political matters.

COWGILL MOVE PROTESTED BY BUSINESS MEN

Former Mayor J. E. Miller, As Spokesman For Delegation Opposing Gasoline Amendment, Says City Should Call Halt On Establishing Private Enterprises.

Protesting the proposed amendment which will make legal the sale of gasoline by the city of Lincoln, over twenty chamber of commerce members, mostly from the retail subdivision, appeared before the city council Friday morning. J. E. Miller, former mayor of Lincoln, was spokesman for the party.

"This proposition is absurd," he said. "We ask that the council, instead of passing this resolution, withdraw it. We ought to get out of the coal business instead of into the gasoline business."

Says Demand of People.

Commissioner Cowgill, in a brief reply, said that the people believing themselves unfairly treated at times by gasoline companies, wanted the city to sell the product.

"I want to give the people what they want," he said.

Among the members of the delegation from the chamber were F. E. Beaumont, H. S. Freeman, Sewell Sanderson, Otto Zumwinkle, Charles Cornell, J. C. Harpham, E. C. Folsom, M. Weil, Harry F. Gilmoure, J. D. Bushnell, W. Edgar Gates, L. I. Coryell, Landy Clark, O. J. Fee, John Dorgan, Fred Foster, Sam Waugh, R. S. Proudfit, George Proudfit, and I. M Raymond, jr.

Mr. Miller opened the meeting with his address.

Matter For Courts.

"If the men who deal in gasoline are conducting an alleged illegal combination," he said, "it seems that the matter should be brought before the courts. Because of the greater size of the interests involved selling gasoline is much worse than the municipal selling of coal. There are fifty service stations with an investment which I estimate at $750,000 in this city.

"Personally I was opposed to the city going into the coal business.

"We have been worshippers of referendums and the like, but they have never accomplished very much good. I protest against placing this burden on the shoulders of the taxpayers. I doubt whether there is a member of the council who really believes that it is right to go into any more private enterprises."

Would Submit Question.

Commissioner Wright said he was in favor, not only of putting the

COOLIDGE FLAYS PROPOSALS FOR CURBING COURT

Says Limiting Power High Tribunal Encroachment Upon People's Rights.

Government Ownership of Rails Denounced As Being Uneconomic.

(Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—President Coolidge, in an address here last night commemorating the meeting of the first continental congress in Carpenter's Hall 150 years ago, drew lessons from the acts of the forefathers and declared that "if we wish to maintain what they established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts.

"By a resolute determination to resist all these encroachments," the president said, "we can best show our reverence and appreciation for the men and the work of the first continental congress."

The president's denunciation of government ownership of railroads and other public utilities drew applause from the crowd that filled the academy of music where he spoke for thirty-five minutes.

Returns to Capital.

Mr. Coolidge spent two and a half hours in Philadelphia, leaving for Washington immediately after the conclusion of the exercises. The president, who was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, received a cordial greeting from the crowds that lined the streets from the station to the academy. He was escorted by a reception committee.

Proposals for government ownership of railroads and other public utilities were denounced by President Coolidge as "uneconomic" and "encroachments upon our rights."

Mr. Coolidge also renewed his assault on suggestions to limit the power of the supreme court and urged that the people resist encroachment upon their rights and liberties guaranteed by the constitution.

Maintain Fathers' Work.

"If we wish to maintain what our fathers here established," he declared, "we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts.

It is difficult, the president said, referring to government ownership of railroads, "to reconcile the American idea of a sovereign people capable to owning and managing their own government with an ability to own and manager their own business."

Furthermore, he declared, it would mean a loss in public revenue estimated at $600,000,000 a year with a resultant increase in the tax on farmers of from three to forty per cent.

Mr. Coolidge devoted most of his address to a discussion of early history and the birth of the constitution after the organization of the first continental congress.

Arguments Are Distorted.

Referring to the deliberations of this congress, the president asserted that, "if we could better understand what they said and did to establish our free institutions, we should be less likely to be misled by the misrepresentations and distorted arguments of the hour, and be far better equipped to maintain them."

He drew a lesson from the declarations of the congress as showing the "superiority of moderation and candor over violence and deceit in seeking a solution of difficult p ublic questions."

The constitution, Mr. Coolidge pointed out, "is a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes."

Ideal of Welfare.

"I have mentioned the desirability," he continued, "for the people to keep control of their own government and their own property, because I believe that is one of the American ideals of public welfare in harmony with the efforts of the first continental congress. They objected to small infractions, which would destroy great principles of liberty. Unless we can maintain the integrity of the court, where the individual can secure his rights, any kind of tyranny may follow. If the people lose control of the arteries of trade and the natural sources of mechanical power, the nationalization of all industry could soon be expected Our forefathers were alert to resist all encroachments upon their rights. If we wish to maintain our rights, we can do no less. Through the breaking down of the power of the courts lies an easy way to the confiscation of the property and the destruction of the liberty of the individual. With railways and electrical utilities under political control, the domination of a group would be so firmly interenched in the whole direction of our government that the privilege of citizenship for the rest of the people would consist largely in the payment of taxes. The fathers sought to escape from any such condition, through the guarantees of our constitution They put their faith in a free republic. If we wish to maintain what they established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts By resolute determination to resist all these encroachments we can best show our reverence and appreciation for the men and the work of the first continental congress."

Remedy Their Wrongs.

Declaring it significant that the first congress "resulted from the voluntary effort on the part of the people to redress their own grievances and remedy their own wrongs Mr. Coolidge warned that "we pay too little attention to the reserve power of the people to take care of themselves; we are too solicitious for government intervention."

"Everyone knows," he added, "that our economic problems are very far from being solved, but we are making constant progress both in the field of production and distribution. When certain abuses arose, we adopted a policy of government regulation and control. I have no doubt that some action of that kind was necessary and of course such a policy would be continued But ti has not been, nor can it be hoped that it will be always wisely administered. While it provides some defense against wrong doing its restrictions often hamper development and progress, enterprise and when they fail to produce the perfection promised tend to bring the government into discredit. The real fact is that in a republic like ours the people are government, and if they cannot secure perfection in their own economic life it is altogether improbable that the government can secure it for them. The same human nature which presided over priv enterprise must be employed for public action.

Occasionally Successful.

"No doubt there are certain municipalities where some public utilities have been managed through public ownership with a creditable success. But this is very different from a proposal that the national government should take over railroads and other public utilities What a strain this would be to our economic system will be realized when it is remembered that public commissions set the value of such utilities at about $35,000,000 000, and that they have 2,750,000 employes Such a undertaking would mean about $1,750,000,000 annually in bond interest and an operating budget estimated at about $9,000,000,000 These utilities are no longer in the hands of a few, directly or indirectly. They are owned by scores of millions of our inhabitants It would mean a loss in public revenue estimated at $600,000,000 a year, and while in industrial states it might not increase the tax on the farmer more than 8 per cent or 4 per cent, in many agricultural countries, it would run as high as 40 per cent. When we recall the appalling loss and the difficulty in the management of $8,500,000,000 worth of ships, we should undoubtedly hesitate about taking on ten times that is no occasion to discuss the details of public ownership.

Maintains Rights of People.

"The government of the United States is a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes. It is a constitution which is the product of human experience with all its toil and suffering, its bloodshed and devastation, its oppression and tyranny, but likewise with all its wisdom, its love of liberty and its determination to follow the truth The First continental congress met to redress grievances which were the result of government action The revolution was fought to resist those same grievances And finally, the constitution was adopted to prevent similar impositions from ever again being inflicted upon the people

All in Document.

"They are all in that precious document these priceless guarantees The people do not propose again to entrust their government to others, but to retain it under their own control No one can tax them or even propose a tax upon them save themselves and their own representatives. Instead of encroaching upon local assemblies, it guarantees each state a republican form of government It regulates suspension of the writ of habeas corpus. It protects the home from the uninvited intrusion of military force of the government. It guards the right of jury trial, and undertakes to make judicial officers independent, impartial, and free from every motive to follow any influence save that of the evidence, the law and the truth. These are representative of the great body of our liberals of which the constitution is the sole source and guarantee.

Powers Are Limited.

"Ours, as you know, is a government of limited powers Our constitution confers the authority for certain action upon the president and the congress and explicitly prohibits them from taking other actions. This is done to protect the rights and liberties of the people The government is limited only the people are absolute. Whenever the legislative or executive power undertakes to overstep the bounds of its limitations, any person who is injured may resort to the courts for protection and remedy. We do not submit the precious rights of the people to a hazard to a prejudiced and irresponsible political determination, but preserve and protect them by an independent and impartial judicial determination. We do not expose the rights of the weak to the danger of being overcome in the public forum by popular uproar, but protect them in the sanctity of the court room, where the still(small voice will not fail to be heard Any attempt to change this method of procedure is an attempt to put the people again in jeopardy of the impositions and tyrannies from which the First continental congress sought to deliver them. The only position that Americans can take is that they are against all despotism whether it eminate from a monarch, from a parliament or from a mob.

Traces to First Congress.

"Almost all our history as an independent and united nation can be traced back to the assembly of the First continental congress, which we are met to celebrate. Our achievements have been wrought by adherence to its policies of reason and restraint, accompanied by firmness and determination. We are not likely to desert that course of action now.

"The case which the congress stated was unanswerable, one side or the other must give way or maintain its position by force of arms. That conflict for which congress has laid the logical foundation was not long in beginning. Liberty never won a more substantial and far reaching victory than that which resulted from our revolutionary war. It established the American nation with all that it has since meant in the accomplishments of the world and all that it holds of future promise. A form of government was organized in harmony with what Franklin had proposed at Albany in 175s But the constitution was not adopted until various experiments with unworkable systems showed some such action necessary Whatever may be the reputation of that great instrument at home, modified and adapted to local needs it has been adopted as the fundamental law for republics in every quarter of the world The influence of that great document, framed in Philadelphia in 1787 can be traced in every constitution on earth from China to Peru, from the Australian commonwealth to the German republic. They all bear the same testimony."

Sheriff Collects More Tax Money

A total of $20,544.59 has been turned into the county treasury by the sheriff's office this month, a statement issued by Sheriff Claude P. Hensel late Thursday indicates.

Collections representing payments of delinquent personal taxes, to the amount of $9,715 07, were submitted by check Thursday. Approximately the same amount is expected during the second week of October, Sheriff Hensel said.

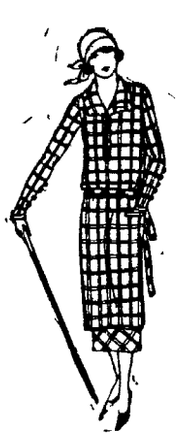

He announced that many of these distress warrants are against former residents of the county now living in a dozen different states

In most cases, it was stated, where the respective parties have been notified, a quick response has been made. In a few cases, however, a levy on personal property has been made. Only one case necessitated sale of the property.

CHURCH TO ACT IN POISON PLOT

Expected to Take Action After Investigation Committee Reports.

Indicated Mrs. Sweetin's Mind Impared Since She Made Confession.

(Associated Press.)

CARBONDALE, Ill., Sept. 26.—Interest in the Illinois poison plot romance was shifted to this town today when the southern Illinois conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was expected to take formal action on the committee investigation of Rev. Lawrence M. Hight's part in the plot. The love pact resulted in the death of his wife, Anna and of Wilford Sweetin, whose widow, the minister had planned to marry.

A special committee selected at yesterday's meeting sent two of its members to Nashville to obtain a formal statement of the accused minister which was to be presented to the committee today.

Say Mind Affected.

SALEM, Ill., Sept. 26.—Continued refusal to partake of food, coupled with the strenuous events of the last three days and the loss of sleep, last night had cast Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, held here on a charge of having poisoned her husband, Wilford Sweetin, into a state of semi-consciousness and jail attendants suggested taking her to a hospital if she showed no immediate improvement.

Symptoms of her mind having become impaired since her confession that she poisoned her husband at the instigation of the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, who in turn poisoned his wife so that they could be married, have become noticeable, officials said.

In addition to repentance felt for her act, as Mrs. Sweetin has admitted, the worry over the future of her three little boys has been her chief concern.

Distinct waning of her feeling for the minister is reflected by her remarks regarding her relations with him.

She has accused the pastor of influencing her to carry out her part of the confessed poison plot.

Youth Admits Causing Wreck Of Fast Train

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—A farmer boy, William Chatterton, 15, was arrested on the scene last midnight and confessed that he had wrecked the west bound Golden State limited on the Chicago-Rock Island and Pacific railway at Fairport, Ia., according to railroad officials here. He declared that two men had plotted with him to wreck the train.

No one was injured, according to railroad reports and only three cars left the rails although the train was running 45 miles an hour.

The chief of police of Muscatine, Ia., was passing in his automobile and saw the derailment. He found Chatterton at the scene and arrested him. The youth, according to railway officials, is not believed to be mentally normal.

Advises Culling Milch Cows For Greater Profits

HEBRON, Neb., Sept. 26. — When the milch cows of Thayer county are as carefully culled as the poultry flocks, the returns from the dairy cattle can be expected to more nearly approach the profits from the "mighty" hens, says County agent L. C. Christie in his fifth monthly report on the cow testing project.

During August, seventeen hens returned as much profit as one cow. One cow ate more than twice as much feed as seventeen hens, however. As a money making project, then the good hens in the poultry project," accredite farm flocks, have the average cows in cow testing project beaten, it seems, the county agent reported. These two projects are the major ones of the county farm bureau organization this year. The work has been conducted for several years longer in the poultry project than in the cow testing.

Mr. Christie put the twenty-five best cows on an honor roll each month. In August, this select group produced an average net profit of 10.46 per cows, while the other 75 cows in the project averaged a profit to their owners of only .26 apiece. If the 75 cows had been traded for 31 as good as the honor roll cows, the total net profit would have been the same and the farmers would have the cash from the sale of the 44 extra cows, the agent pointed out.

Dairy cows have appeared all times on the honor roll in the last five months, while the cows of strict beef breeding have made the position but 14 times. The dairy cow is the animal for high priced land, said the county agent.

"Milking good cows pays," he said. The returns from the honor roll cows averaging $1.25 per hour of time spent supon them during last month.

The ten leading poultry flocks in the county averaged 16 eggs per hen and the other flocks (16) averaged 10 eggs per month. During the last ten months the sales from the 23 flocks have totalled over $18,000, $14,000 of which has been net profit. August was the tenth month of this project, the new year in the work beginning November 1 of each calendar year.

SWEARS KILLING IN SELF DEFENSE

Mrs. Howard Testifies Husband Tried To Shoot Her First.

Woman On Trial In Scottsbluff On Charge Of Slaying Mate.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Sept. 26—Mrs. Roy Howard, charged with the murder of her husband, testified in her own defense Thursday. She is pleading self defense for the shooting which occurred in a house here July 27.

After telling how she, a widow with a daughter, 12, met Howard in 1910 and married him four years later, Mrs. Howard related events leading up to the tragedy.

She testified that during their married life he had beaten her several times. "In 1920, after a severe beating I left him," she said, "and went to Denver to my daughter. He followed sometime afterwards and I came with him to Scottsbluff, where for a short time we lived at a rooming house, afterwards moving to our present ranch in Banner county."

Mrs. Howard said her husband often threatened her life. "He also told me of going out with other women and showed met letters from a Mrs. James in which she asked for money to pay doctor bills,' the accused woman asserted. She said her husband sent this woman $650.

"He also told me of his infatuation with Mrs. Lamb," said Mrs. Howard, "I begged him not to go to her place. When I went to Scottsbluff that Sunday I took my husband's shotgun with me. I took it for my own protection.

Tells of Chase.

"I saw a woman in front of the Lamb house, standing on the fender of a car. It was Mrs. Lamb. Mrs. Stryker was with her and she called at me, 'Don't shoot me.' Mrs. Lamb ran and I took after her. I got caught on the clothesline and she got away. Then I went in the house. The house was dark. I called 'Roy.' He said, "Yes, Annie.' He was not in the front room, but in the next room standing near a bed. He was putting on his coat. I couldn't see him very plain, but saw him pick a gun up from the floor and I was sure he was going to shoot. I thought I would shoot at his feet, but just as I shot he stooped over and when my gun discharged he dropped his gun. I ran right to him and knelt down. He said, 'Give me that gun.' Then Atkins came into the room and said, "What's going on here?" He said to me, 'Don't you get smart with me.' Atkins picked up Roy's gun and Roy asked him to light a match. I then helped him onto the bed, took the guns and left them out doors and went to a rooming house where I first tried to get the chief of police on the telephone, but couldn't; then I got Dr. Young and told him to come quick. When I got back Roy was outside on the porch. He asked me to lace his shoes. I did, and he laid his head on my lap."

Mrs. Howard defied the statement of Wyatt Atkins that said her husband had snapped the gun in her face twice.

Didn't Intend to Kill.

Upon cross examination she stated that she took the gun along to shoot Mrs. Lamb, to injure her, not wishing to kill.

Mrs. Hupfer of North Platte, a sister of Mrs. Howard testified that she heard Howard threaten to kill Mrs. Howard last June.

"He said to my sister," said Mrs. Hupfer, "if you don't quit butting into my affairs I'll sure kill you."

Atkins, a hired hand on the Howard ranch, told his version of the shooting. He had gone to the Lamb house to get his wages from Howard, he said.

I saw Mrs. Howard pass in front of a window and then she came to the front door,' said Atkins. "It was hooked but she broke the latch and came in. She had a shotgun and pulled it on him after she spoke his name. As soon as she fired on him she went right over to him but he pushed her away and went across the room and took a 38-calibre revolver down from the wall. He aimed this at her face and snapped it a couple of times but it didn't go off. Then Howard walked out doors on the porch. I noticed that his shirt had caught fire where she shot and I put out the blaze.. Mrs. Howard asked me if I wasn't going to get a doctor. I went to a drug store and called Dr. Rassmussen. Then I went back to Lamb's"

James Hall who worked for the Howards at the time, testified: "I hitched the team for Mrs. Howard to drive it Scottsbluff. I tried to talk her out of it but she said she was going after her husband. She took a shotgun.

Osteopaths Name Fenney President

(Special to The Star.)

Omaha was chosen for the next meeting.

SMITH GATHERING LAND VALUE DATA

Says Sale Prices Do Not Always Indicate the Actual Worth.

Seeking Facts to Be Used In Trial Of Railway Tax Cases.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 26—State Tax Commissioner William H. Smith of Lincoln was in Fairbury Wednesday and met with the county commissioners at a special session of the board. His purpose was to lay before them the situation with reference to railroad taxation. The railroads have claimed their property is valued too high, especially in proportion to the valuation of farm lands. The Rock Island partially won a case in the supreme court of Nebraska on this basis, satisfying the court that the value of farm lands was really higher than the assessed valuation while the value of the railroads is not above that fixed for purpose of taxation.

This situation grew out of the land boom which collapsed in 1921. Commissioner Smith argues that the selling value of land during the boom should not be taken as the real value for taxation purposes. Had there been a boom in railroads they would have also sold high for a time, only to find later that the boom had collapsed and that the real value was less than some of the figures at which the sales were made.

Commissioner Smith also argued that the actual figures in many deeds placed on record do not always represent the value of the land but are usually more than the land would actually sell for or be appraised at. He intends to show that a farm will sometimes sell at a high figure because of its location, the owner of a neighboring farm being willing to pay above the market price to get this particular piece because it adjoins him.

His purpose in sitting with the county board was to lay the situation before members and ask for local evidence tending to prove his contention. He wants affidavits and copies of real estate transfers in the office of the register of deeds so that he can make it clear to the court that the valuation of farm lands which the railroads have used as a basis for their contention is not the true value for taxation purposes at this time.

The railroads contend that they were assessed at 100 per cent of their true valuation while farm land was assessed at only 60 per cent. The supreme court in the Rock Island case upheld this contention in part only, granting the railroad relief to a certain extent. The cases involving the other roads have not been tried but will come up later and the evidence being prepared now will be used at that time.

Mr. Smith expects to visit 93 counties in the state, urging the local authorities to co-operate with him. He was at Wilber Wednesday morning and left here after his meeting for Hebron, expecting to make two counties a day.

BRYAN CONTINUES TO FLAY TARIFF

Governor Says Wall So High That the People Cannot Buy.

Immense Saving Is Made In State On Coal and Gasoline Prices.

WAYNE, Neb., Sept. 26.—Governor Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for vice president, in an address before the county fair gathering here today, related his stern opposition to the tactics of the "privileged class," let loose another attack on the republican tariff and "dishonesty at Washington the last four years," and exhorted the people of this community to return in the fall election a state legislature that will work in harmony with the chief executive.

"What has happened to you in the last four years?" Mr. Bryan asked near the close of his discussion of national affairs. "You have seen the prosperity that was yours the preceding eight years disappear as the mist would before the sun. The tariff wall has raised prices so high that it has gotten to the point where you can not buy."

Continuing on the tariff, the vice presidential nominee said:

"They say you cannot fix prices by law, but you will see they have not given you a say in fixing them. Instead, they have put — a tariff wall that has closed out the outsider. They say you cannot make prices by law but they are tying a man's hands while the special interests pick his pockets."

Republican Remedies.

Governor Bryan declared the republican party "does not dare give you any specific remedies for agriculture, but instead advises you to reduce your production by stopping reclamation and recommends the appointment of another commission to study your needs that will have the same effect as two other commissions whose recommendations never have been acted upon.

Touching on the Washington scandal, the vice presidential candidate asserted the United States and the world has been mortified by the happenings at Washington.

"Congress," he added, "has had to drive and scourge from office high officials who betrayed your trust." Governor Bryan again explained what he termed the bolt of the republican party by the progressives of that organization as necessary because if they had not lined up with the democrats on progressive legislation they would have been afraid to look their constituents in the face."

He added that he was not criticizing these progressives for leaving their party, but was condemning them "for joining with the democrats whenever a progressive bill was fought for."

Loss Of Power Sites.

"I want you people to take an inventory of your own views and convictions," Mr. Bryan urged, adding that the democratic party was honest and progressive enough to demand their serious consideration.

Governor Bryan charged the power interests with "gobbling up the power sites of the country through interstate combinations."

"The republicans," he said, "dare not tell you they are in favor of governmental control of the water power resources, because they would lose the support they have gotten in the past from another branch of the privilege-seeking class."

Mr. Bryan was introduced by J. H. Kemp, a local business man, who referred to him as "the champion of the common people and the common people's cause."

Taking note of the rostrum from which he spoke, a platform used by an orchestra to play dance music, Governor Bryan said it was quite a strain on a man"s constitution to ask him to discuss national issues here on a dance floor with a band on hand."

Mr. Bryan replied to critics of his economy program carried out in Nebraska, declaring that while the state legislature passed on the appropriations, it was the chief executive who controlled them through the budget. He charged the republican candidates for state offices with trying to credit their party with the savings brought about in the state while it was the chief executive who reduced administrative costs," despite the republican legislature's log-rolling appropriations which I had not recommended and in the face of the state code law."

Robbing The Schools.

He asserted that the republican legislature had increased by forty thousand dollars the appropriation for the railway commission under pressure of the railroad lobby and at the expense of the state normal schools and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

"If the people want a duplicate form of government," he continued "all that is necessary is to put the republican army back to work."

Explaining the state gasoline and coal sale policies, Governor Bryan said he was not in favor of the state competing in these commodities with legitimate business, "but when they take advantage of you it is time to step in and establish a business of your own."

Before establishing the municipal gasoline filling station and a retail coal yard, Governor Bryan said, he tried in vain for relief from Washington. He could not find this, he added, "because the combination in restraint of trade were in control there through their big campaign contribution and were stealing the nation's oil reserves."

The state has sold ninety-five car loads of coal in the last twelve days and the orders were continuing to pile up, Mr. Bryan told his audience, and savings on gasoline and coal alone, he pointed out, were almost equivalent to the receipts from the state's wheat crop.

"Everything irritates me,—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.—Advertisement.

TWO HOURS TIME LOSES A LAWSUIT

Farmer Losing Cattle By Lightning Late In Informing Insurer.

FREMONT, Neb., Sept. 26—In order to collect insurance on livestock killed by lichtning in Nebraska, it is necessary to furnish notice of the loss to the insurance company within 48 hours after the abatement of the storm, according to a decision in the court of County Judge Waldo Whittersteen. H. S. McGath, well known farmer, sought to collect for the loss on two steers killed by lightning in his pasture.

The company claimed that McGath failed to furnish notice within the 48 hours, specified in a clause of his policy. McGath showed that the steers were in a pasture three miles from his house and on account of wet conditions, he did not go to the pasture until the second day after the storm. He made his report fifty hours after the storm had abated. He lost the suit.

A New Kind of Boy's Suit

Sheds Water!
Door-Proof!
Pole-Proof!

No doubt, in times past, you've heard of "Cravenette." It is our good fortune this season to feature a stock of "Cravenette" Processed boys' suits.

Each of these suits, while being made, was subjected to the famous "Cravenette" Process—which means that in addition to the fine fabric and fine tailoring which you expect in any good suit, it was made water-resistant, and wear-resistant. Columbia university found, for instance, that cloth given this treatment took immensely longer to wear out than ordinary cloth.

In other words, in addition to shedding water, these suits are cellar-door-proof, tree-proof, pole-proof—the ideal apparel for that lively boy of yours. And the price, too, will appeal to you.

Come Saturday and bring the boy—"Cravenette" Processed suits are suits that he will proudly wear.

SAYS OIL PROFIT PURCHASED BONDS

Pomerene Says Fall Got U. S. Bonds Bought By Canadian Bank.

Alleges Were Bought With Gains Made In Oil Transactions.

(Associated Press.)

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 26—That Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, came into possession of certain United States Liberty bonds shortly after these Liberty bonds had been purchased for the Continental Trading company ltd., a Canadian concern with profits made out of oil sold to the Sinclair Oil interests, is alleged in an affidavit filed today in an Ontario court by former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene of Cleveland, and Owen J Roberts of Philadelphia, special federal counsel appointed by President Coolidge.

The affidavit was presented as a preliminary movement in an effort to obtain a court action authorizing the taking of deposition here The two United States attorneys set forth that the evidence obtainable from local witnesses would have an important bearing on the action instituted by the federal government to cancel the "Teapot Dome oil lease

Filing Was Opposed

A previous application for permission to take depositions here was filed on September 15 but was opposed by attorneys for H. S Osler, president of the Continental Trading company and other persons scheduled to be examined The affidavit filed by Pomerene and Roberts sets forth that the Continental Trading company, ltd, which was oragnized in 1921 entered into contract with the Humphreys Texas company and the Humphreys Mexico company on November 17 1921 for the purchase of 33 333 333 barrels of crude oil at $1 50 per barrel It is alleged that the execution of this agreement was guaranteed by the Sinclair Oil Purchasing company and the Prarie Oil and Gas company jointly at an advance of 25 cents a barrel.

Paid Through Bank.

The purchasers of the contract, says the affidavit, took control of the oil but made payments through the Canadian concern Between January 1 1922, and May 26 1923 it is alleged, more than 8 700 000 barrels of oil were delivered netting a profit of more than $2 000 000 to the Continental Trading company

This profit, it is set forth, was invested in Liberty bonds, the purchases being made through the New York agency of the dominion bank of Canada. These bonds, it is further alleged were then distributed to share holders and holders of stock warrents of the Continental Trading company, under the direction of H. S Osler, the organization's president.

RE-ENACT FIRST U. S. CONGRESS

Anniversary Ceremony Held In Carpenter Hall At Philadelphia.

Sitting Portrayed In Replica Of Initial Meeting 150 Years Ago.

(Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA Sept. 26—Representatives of the thirteen original states joined with citizens of Philadelphia Thursday in celebrating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the meeting of the first continental congress and the two hundreth anniversary of the founding of the Carpenters company in whose historic hall the congress met President Coolidge was the central figure in the commemoration of the events of one hundred and fifty years ago making the principal addresses at the exercises held at the academy of music

During the day Carpenters hall was the center of ceremonies in honor of the two memorable events in the American history Resplendent dress uniforms of by gone days historic military commands of some of the original thirteen colonies marched past the structure in a parade down Chestnut street.

Between Sky Scrapers

Nestled in between sky scrapers at the head of its own narrow alley the dainty bit of revolutionary architecture was later the scene of a re enactment of the session in which Patrick Henry called upon the delegates to lay aside the distinctions of their several colonies and become known as Americans

President Coolidge was formally made an honorary member of the quaint organization George Kessler president of the Carpenters company in presenting the certificate of membership emphasized that it was the first time an outsider had been admitted to the roster of the company

Attention to Detail

The sitting of the congress was portrayed with utmost attention to detail those taking the part of the delegates sitting in revolutionary costume by the mellow light of tallow candles and the interior of the building providing the original setting As the prayer of the Rector of Christ Church of a century and a half before was repeated one of the Pennsylvania delegates wearing his hat as became a good Quaker rose while the others knelt radio microphones on the presiding officers desk and the table of the congress furnished the only modern touch The episode closed when George Washington was pointed out as the Virginian who had offered to equip a thousand men at his own expense and march to the relief of Boston.

Former Governor William C Sproul and former Governor Edwin S Stuart, both of Pennsylvania, addressed the meeting

Carpenters company held a commemorative banquet last night prior to at ending the meeting at the Academy of Music At the dinner addresses were made by Senator George Wharton Pepper and Solicitor General James M Breck.

FARMERS IN GOOD FINANCIAL SHAPE

Land Bank Officials Say Conditions In This District Are Fine.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 26.—Ed. D. Morrom, treasurer of the Omaha Federal land bank, told the secretary-treasurer of the Eighth federal land bank district at their annual meeting here today that farmers of the middlewest are entering on an era of prosperity.

"Farmers, who have obtained loans through the land banks are apparently making their payments without difficulty," he said. "Out of $1,100,000 due September 1, as well as other interests due previous to that, only $125,000 remains unpaid. This balance is being rapidly decreased by payments which are being made daily."

"Only forty out of every 100 farms in the state carry mortgages and the mortgages on those which are incumbered vary frofm 35 to 66 per cent of the actual present valuation," he asserted.

Present indications offer no prospect that the current interest rate of 5½ per cant will be lowered, D. P. Hogan, president of the Omaha land bank, told delegates.

John H. Raper of Dodge, Neb., was elected president; A. C. Gustafson of Pierre, S. D., vice president and C. C. Bowelel of Lost Springs, Wyo., secretary and treasurer of the ascociation at the annual election last night.

HOLMES ENTERS A PLEA OF GUILTY

Youth Who Held Up and Robbed Bostwick Bank Admits Crime.

(Special to The Star.)

SUPERIOR, Neb., Sept. 26.—Herbert Holmes, 21-year-old resident of Stubenville, Ohio., has been working near Superior this fall, and who was arrested here Monday, charged with the robbery of the Bostwick State bank, at Bostwick, last Saturday, was taken to the Nuckolls county jail at Nelson Thursday, to be held for trial in the district court to convene next week.

Holmes pleaded guilty after Cashier Kirkbride identified him and a satchel he was carrying was discovered to contain nearly all of the $1,500 stolen from the bank.

The insurance company had covered the loss to the bank before the capture and recovery of the money here, and the satchel and cash was turned over to the Farmers' bank at Superior, by Burlington Ticket Seller W. D. Wrench, who recovered the money. It is understood $250 reward was offered for the arrest and conviction, and several persons here are claiming it.

Gasoline Suit Is Up to High Bench

An appeal was filed in supreme court Friday by Harry Fischer, plaintiff in the suit against State Auditor Marsh to enjoin him from issuing warrants in payment for gasoline delivered to the state filling station in Lincoln, in which Judge Frost of the Lancaster county district court refused to grant an injunction.

As the lower court's ruling leaves no order in effect, an appeal bond was not necessary. Until the case is heard and decided by the high tribunal, the decision of Judge Frost will stand. Since it was rendered, Auditor Marsh has paid for several carloads of gasoline and one shipment of oil. The auditor is free to do the same for purchases hereafter thesuit.

DAVIS SPEAKS IN OWN STATE

Gives Promise of Honesty in Government in Charleston Address.

Says Political Outlook In Western States Found "Very Promising."

(Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Amid the familiar scenes of his early political life, John W. Davis, democratic standard bearer, yesterday told the people of his native state that it would be his ambition if elected president, to give the American people a government "honest from top to bottom," in which laboring man, farmer and consumer would all feel they were being treated on an equal basis.

"There will be no Falls, no Daughertys, no Forbes, no Gaston B. Means, no Jess Smiths or Manningtons," in the democratic administration, the nominee promised as he faced an assemblage on a vacant lot, where once had stood the state capitol building in which he had served as a member of the legislature.

Outlook Promising.

The political outlook in the western state, Mr. Davis declared, he found "very promising" on his recent tour and added that he had every expectation of triumph in the November election. Going into the agricultural question in that section, Mr. Davis said he had learned while traveling about the middlewest that "50 per cent of the farmers in fifteen agricultural states have either lost their farms by foreclosure, have surrendered them to their creditors or are staying on simply because of the mercy of those to whom they owe money."

In addition to the two principal addresses, one at Charleston in the afternoon and another in Huntington last night, Mr. Davis spoke from the platform of his car at eight stops in agricultural or coal centers.

In his Charleston address, Mr. Davis paid his respects to republican campaign management.

Unique Management.

"The strategy is quite unique," he said. "It consists in the first place of silence. We are confronted this year for the first time in American politics with the theory that the way to win a battle before the people is to keep quiet about it."

Declaring that the days of "waving the bloody shirt" and those when the talk was of panic had gone, he continued:

"The latest 'bogeyman' is that around every corner is stationed a 'red' or a 'bolshevik' with a bomb in his hand about to blow up the constitution of the United States unless General Dawes and his assistants are called forth to defend it."

Taking exception to the statement that the campaign is between the republican "that wants to save the constitution" and those under Senator La Follette "who seek to destroy it," the candidate said: "The American people this fall will choose the road they would travel for four years."

Privilege vs. Equality.

"One road is the road of privilege," he said, "and on that road they will find the doctrine prevailing that it is right so to administer the government that some may be made rich, some may be made prosperous at the expense of their fellow citizens, hoping that their prosperity may filter down through all the masses. The other is the road of equality, and on that road the doctrine prevails of a government for and by, not some of the people, but all of the people, of equal rights to all men and special privilege to none."

On the latter road, he declared, there are no seekers for special favors, adding:

"There will be no Falls, no Daughertys, no Forbes, no Gaston B. Means, or Jess Smiths or Manningtons, when the democratic party gets into office."

G. O. P. CHOOSES A STATE TICKET

New York Republicans Pick Roosevelt and Other Places Filled.

(Associated Press.)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay, assistant secretary of the navy and son of the late President was named by the republican state convention here Thursday, as the party's candidate for governor. His nomination came on the first ballot, where he polled 565 of the 980 votes in the convention, 69 in excess of the necessary majority. The nomination was made unanimous and by acclamation on the motion of former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, manager of the pre-convention campaign.

The ticket named at an adjournment session Thursday afternoon, follows:

Lieutenant governor, Semour Lowman, Elmira.

Secretary of state, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, Syracuse.

When informed of his nomination, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"The republican party has done me a very great honor and I am deeply gratified. Our platform is sound, constructive, republicanism. I stand on it four-square.

"President Coolidge has given this country an unequalled administration. We in this state will bend every effort to back up Calvin Coolidge."

Later Colonel Roosevelt was given a tremendous ovation when he appeared on the convention platform just before final adjournment.

Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, the nominee for secretary of state, is the first woman to be a candidate for state office in New York on the republican ticket.

There was cheering when Chairman Ogden J. Mills, o fthe resolutions committee, read the plank in the platform denouncing the ku klux klan by name.

More cheering greeted the reading of the plank declaring for strict law enforcement and the enactment of legislation necessary for such enforcement.

FOURTEEN STATES.

Recent statements attributed to Robert M. La Follette covey the information that the stormy petrel of Wisconsin believes he will be elected president of the United States.

It is doubtful if Bob La Follette ever authorized a statement of this character.

No one is in a better position than Mr. La Follette himself to know that his election is an impossibility. Why? Primarily because he and his friends have placed his name in filing in only fourteen states of the union. The combined electoral vote of these fourteen states is 184. So that if Mr. La Follette was to receive the undivided electoral vote of every state where his name will appear on the ballot, he would still lack 82 votes of securing a majority in the electoral college, 266 being necessary for election

It is futile to talk of La Follette success.

No single fact so convincingly reveals the menacing character of the La Follette movement as a calm dispassionate survey of its possibilities. In the practical results for the thousands of men and women who have been rallied under its banners, it can mean nothing but another disappointment and disillusionment. This revolt against republican misrule, inefficiency and corruption in government deserves a better fate than that. The thousands of farmers of the Middle West who have been enlisted under the banner of Fighting Bob have a real grievance. They have been discriminated against and will continue to be impoverished so long as the present republican administration continues in power. They will be burdened by an exceedingly onerous and iniquitious protective tariff, which forces them to pay double for the things they must buy, while the products of the farm are denied the same governmental aid conferred upon the industrial sections of the east.

It is difficult to believe that the opposition to Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Dawes, which is so widespread in the middle west, arises from any desire for revenge.

That has never been the spirit of these western states.

The people of the agricultural sections of America have always been generously charitable and patriotic. They have represented the most clean and wholesome influence in American political life.

The admitted strength of the uprising behind the La Follette campaign, then, has its foundation in the desire of the farmer to rid government of its curse of special privileges which the republican tariff doctrine confers upon the industrial sections of the east, and particularly the New England states. It gathers strength from another source. The decent sentiment of America has been outraged by happenings at Washington during the last three years and a half. First it was the gigantic frauds in the Veterans' bureau. Then came Teapot Dome and Elk Hill, with the revelation that public property of great value, had been improperly transferred to private interests. And finally it was climaxed with the sickening prostitution of the department of justice under Harry M. Daugherty. While every section of America seethed, the West particularly voiced indignation over this betrayal of public trust. It was dismayed when the leader in the White House temporized, and apologized, and hesitated in a crisis which called for incisive, courageous action.

We are entering the final stages of the 1924 presidential campaign.

Shortly a decision is to be made, which will be binding upon the American people for the next four years. It is time that those who desire to protest against corruption and privilege in government shall cast about to determine upon an effective means of making their influences felt.

Shall those who favor a reduction in the "robber" tariff waste their votes by voting for a man, who, if he carried every state in which his name appears on the ballot, could not be elected?

Will it avail the long-suffering west anything to support a man, no matter how honest or sincere he may be, cannot accomplish a single thing for them?

The most that can come out of the La Follete candidacy is to throw the election of a president into congress. That means confusion. That means deadlock. It means delay when this country should be about its business. And what is more important, it means a final choice between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Davis, for the congress which votes includes the present membership and not the new congress.

There is only one choice for the farmer, who seeks to re-establish the parity between the dollar he spends and the dollar he receives for his products. He must vote for John W. Davis and C. W. Bryan. They are pledged to reduce the tariff.

REFORMING A HUSBAND.

One phase of the distressing tragedy in a small Illinois town, which has focused widespread attention in recent days, seems to have escaped public attention.

Anna Hight married Lawrence Hight twenty-six years ago to reform him. For thirteen years she labored constantly to get him to forsake the life he was leading. Then Hight gave up the race-track, where, as a jockey, he had ridden in many races, and became a minister. For thirteen years he found his new field of endeavors sufficiently attractive to furnish the hope that his regeneration had been complete. And then, he fell in love with a member of his flock—an illicit love, which inspired him to poison the wife, who had made him, and to influence the object of his lustful passions to poison her husband

It is not the first time that a woman has endeavored to reform a man.

That it failed, just as it usually fails, is of greater importance than any other fact. And not withstanding the tragic end of Anna Hight's great adventure, when she set about to remake a man lacking in the sturdy ideals and deep faith which lighted her face, there will be thousands of other girls who will follow in her footsteps in the belief they will succeed where she failed. Is it the maternal instinct which leads girls into this unfortunate choice? Or is it love as distinguished from that deep devotion which the mother showers upon her offspring?

The case of Rev Hight is now being seized upon as an argument in favor of making it easier to dissolve the marriage ties. At least one great newspaper in this country makes bold to assert that the Hights and the Sweetins "would have been better off had their marriage bonds been more easily set aside by law. Many innocent sufferers in other is sacred. A hard and inflexible law will destroy the sanctity and its fundamental purpose."

Stuff and Tommyrot!

America does not need laws which make divorce easier. If anything, it should adopt a uniform law in all of the states, which would make divorce increasingly difficult. It should adopt adopt a uniform law for all of the states which will make marriage more difficult. The marriage institution has suffered too much already because quick marriages and equally hasty divorces have so influenced young people that, after all, they were merely experimenting to determine if their love was the genuine article.

DRAFTING YOUNG TEDDY.

In making Col. Theodore Roosevelt the second, their candidate for governor, New York republican politicians have advertised to the country what a desperate predicament they are in when it becomes necessary to capitalize the name and fame of his illustrious father as their only hope of defeating Al Smith's re-election. For it is patent on the face of things that young Theodore was chosen, not for any capacity of statesmanship which he has displayed on his own account, but purely and simply for the use of his name to attract votes.

Had the convention which nominated him been looking for an outstanding war hero to lead the party in New York, its choice would have been the gallant Col. Hayward, a former Nebraskan, who bears the scars of his military service in the Argonne and other areas where American troops performed their most notable exploits in the world war. But Hayward was passed by, and Roosevelt chosen, because the politicians thought that the latter's name would attract more votes, because of his dead father's prestige, than would the former's with only his own achievements to recommend him.

Thus is introduced into the pending campaign a new issue, involving the creation of a political dynasty erected upon the foundation of the great Roosevelt's name. If the scheme works in New York, it perhaps will not be long until the whole country will be asked to accept this new type of leadership based on family succession. The United States may be nearer to having the Prince of Wales on its hands than many of its citizens suppose.

Four years ago, when McAdoo was a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, and the republican leaders feared he might be selected, a chorus of sneering allusions to the "crown prince" went up. McAdoo happened to be the son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, and the opposition party scathingly denounced the idea of "keeping it in the family." But now, in New York, the g. o. p. has become committed to that very policy, because the leaders think the name of Roosevelt is worth a great many thousand votes.

Undoubtedly they count upon getting support from hordes of poorly informed voters who, when they see the name on the ballot, will suppose it to be that of the former president. There used to be a considerable body of timber residents down in Arkansas who cast their ballots every four years for Jefferson Davis for president, long after his demise. In the cities of New York there are many thousands of illiterate persons who probably do not know that the first Roosevelt died five years ago, and who might easily be fooled by his son's name on the ticket.

However, there is no assurance that even this advantage will be enough of a factor to win control of the state government of New York for the republican party. Governor Smith is very popular and his name is as well known as that of Roosevelt. He has a fine record of constructive achievement which will be a great asset for his candidacy.

The democratic party four years ago tried to capitalize nationally on the Roosevelt name by picking as its candidate for vice president a distant relative of the former president. The results at election time, however, did not appear to justify the calculations of the politicians who brought about his nomination.

Had young Roosevelt showed any outstanding qualities as an executive, during his service as assistant secretary of the navy, his selection to head the republican ticket in New York would have been fairly logical. But the most conspicuous thing he has done in that office was to approve and assist the transfer of Teapot Dome and other valuable oil lands from the navy department, to the Sinclairs and Dohenys, even to the extent of sending armed forces to dispossess and evict small operators who had established themselves within or adjacent to those areas before the big fellows made their deals with Fall and Denby.

It will not be forgotten that when young Theodore sanctioned and aided these transactions his younger brother was in the employ of the Sinclair interests; and while no charge has been made that either of them acted with any corrupt motive, the fact that they figured in the affair as stool pigeons for those who did profit therefrom does not constitute a strong recommendation for the former in his bid for the New York governorship.

TRANSFERRING THREE BILLION DOLLARS.

The Federal Reserve bank of New York City moved its cash and securities from its old building to its new quarters last Sunday.

It was the greatest treasure ever transported through the streets of an American city—and for that matter, probably the richest ever transferred in any part of the globe. The cash and securities, most of which were negotiable, were estimated to be worth three billions of dollars.

To accomplish their safe removal, the greatest secrecy was observed. Every possible channel, where information might leak out to the public, was carefully guarded At the appointed time, thirty-seven armed cars were loaded with the money and securities, and passed through a lane of 300 policemen, who lined the five blocks through which the cars must pass. There were sixty officers stationed in every block There was a policeman on guard every four yards of the route. Machine guns were brought out and mounted on the cars, and a big escort of officers accompanied the caravan along the streets.

In the days of the greatest activity in gold mining in the Black Hills, rich shipments were sent from Deadwood across long, lonely stretches of territory, only a handful of men to protect the treasure from bandits. It is somewhat a mockery of civilization when the greatest city in the world finds it necessary to make such elaborate arrangements for the federal reserve bank's cash and securities.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GYPSIES' PROGRESS.

By hill and dale the gypsy band
Is motoring across the land,
And leaving work to others,
The chieftains still are tanned and tall;
They wander on from Spring till Fall,
With fortunes being told by all
The old and wrinkled mothers.

Free from restraints that we must learn,
They wander, as the seasons turn,
By winding brooks and rivers;
Their horses have been turned away;
Horse trading long since ceased to pay,
And so the gypsy chiefs today
Are busy trading flivvers.

By hill and dale they wander down,
To camp beyond the sleepy town,
And light their smoky fires;
Full many a filling place they pass,
And now and then a gypsy lass
May trade a kiss or two for gas
Or air for leaky tires.

Thus changes come with changing years;
Last season's custom disappears,
In spite of tears and sighing;
From ancient ways we turn to new;
What horses once did motors do,
And in another year or two

Astonishing Ignorance.

An amazingly large number of people lack what might be termed "health consciousness." That is to say, they are utterly indifferent to their physical conditions until something so serious occurs that they have to go to bed, or call a doctor, or take some sort of measures to bring about an improvement.

They drive their bodies like a lot of ignorant people drive their motor cars. As long as the thing will stagger along they're smugly satisfied.

Intelligent people drive their bodies carefully as they drive their cars. When a little squeak or rattle develops in their auto they find it and repair it. When a little pain or lethargy develops in their bodies, they search out the cause and have repairs made. Thus they preserve their lives and healths, by preventing little troubles from growing into big ones.

A plastic surgeon acquaintance of mine gets quite a number of adult patients who come in with noses mishappen in a certain peculiar way. Beauty, not health, is the motive for the calls of these people They are astounded when he informs them that a blood disease is the primary cause of their ugliness.

Another doctor of my acquaintance specializes on reducing fat people. Never does a week go by but what a dozen people come in with great lumps of fat due—not to the usual overeating and lack of exercise—but to faulty thyroid glands.

The truly "health conscious" person could not possibly go on for years and years without knowing that he was a sufferer from thyroid gland trouble, but the ignorant and indifferent type of person apparently pays no attention to health.

A long long list of diseases have an insiduous way of progressing. Heart trouble, kidney diseases, stomach ailments—these are but a few that might be mentioned. Caught early, these diseases can be stopped before they do much damage. But if left to go their own way, they lead straight to invalidism or the grave.

The simplest method of developing a "health conscousness" it to get an annual physical examination. Thus, by taking an hour or two a year, you get accurate facts about yourself and can thereby avoid the hin penalty which nature places upon ignorance.

Questions and Answers.

Your questions on health topics will be answered by Dr. Dorothy Becker if you address her in care of this newspaper.

T. L P.—My young son is pale, has no vitality, and is losing weight. Could this be due to worms?

Answer—Yes, it might be; but it also might be due to any one of a number of things, from wrong diet to eye trouble and from diseased tonsils to nerve strain These symptoms are serious enough to demand an examination by your physician. Remember it it is easier to cure a half sick child than one who is desperately ill, so don't waste time on home remedies.

Seeking Information.

HUMBOLDT, Sept 24.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Would you let me use a small space in your valuable paper to ask a few questions that are puzzling me? First, the Wall street twins are both out with their slogans in this campaign which are common sense and honesty, and as the democratic or republican party have not used any common sense or honesty in government affairs in the past fifty years, what do they mean?

Someone please answer.

Dawes, the running mate of one of these twins is going over the country warning the voters that if the fool voter is allowed to vote on a constitutional amendment providing congress may, by enacting a statute make it effective over a judicial veto and elect the federal judges by ballot, our government will be lost and our freedom is lost; that to let the people vote upon a question like this is red, and is a socialistic doctrine to let the people vote on a constitutional amendment Please, some one answer this and state why this would be so dangerous a proposition. I do want to vote for La Follette, but if someone can get me clear on this, and the fool voters should be allowed to vote only on the minor things so as to save our form of government, why I will vote for one of the Wall street twins. League Dead Again.
(Nebraska City News).

The league of nations is dead. This has been officially promulgated by the republicans many times, and some of the leaders probably believe it. The country voted against it, as its motives and intents were not known as they should have been. Senator Lodge and his followers gloated over the defeat of Wilson and his pet measure. Gov. Cox was badly snowed under. But somehow that league of nations and its principles refuse to remain dead, even after having been officially pronounced dead. It seems to be alive to all countries except Mexico, the United States and Germany. The league is now in session at Geneva, and is working overtime. It proposes to call a general disarmament conference to be held early next year. Then there may be compulsory arbitration of international differences. And that is not the worst. It proposes to invite Germany and the United States to become members, and when we remember the action of the United States, under President Harding, in regard to disarmament, it will be difficult for this country to refuse to participate in the conference. But the league is dead. Will the United States send an "unofficial" representative to attend the burial and thus retain our exclusiveness.

Is It Fair?
(Rushville Standard.)

If any securities were to be tax-free, it should be those of productive industry. What the world needs is more and more investors to put their money into producing industry—factories railroads, public utilities, anything that will make payrolls and support homes A dollar spent for a local packing plant or mill is worth several times as much as the average dollar spent for civic luxury. It should be encouraged to get into life and justify its own right to live.

We should have highways and the other improvements that make community living worth while. But under present laws income from money invested in city, county, state and federal securities is exempted from taxation, thus actually inviting and encouraging the investor to buy securities rather than embark in industry which permanently employs labor. The tax-exemption plan is fundamentally wrong; but if it is to be continued it should include securities of industries that need lower taxes and encouragement in order to operate and maintain payrolls. Present tax-exemption is a heavy burden on all business, which must pay double taxes in order that favored tax-free securities escape.

Agricultural News of Nebraska Counties

FREMONT—The new government explosive, "pyratol," is now available for farmers of this county, the county agent announced today. The material is to be handled in same manner as wax picric acid, in car load lots, made up from the farmers' orders. The explosive will cost about $9 per hundredweight.

The petitions from Dodge county for eradication of vobine tuberculosis have been finished and filed with the state department of agriculture at Lincoln, together with a request that the area eradication work be brought into the county at the earliest possible time. The testing is to be free to all cattle owners, and is under the supervision of the federal government. A review of the township caucus for the petition shows that in each the percentage of signers was high.

The county agent advised farmers of the county that according to the last report of the Hessian fly testing stations, the fly-free date or that upon which farmers may plant wheat without fear of infestation by the fly, is near.

Plan Next Year's Work.

HARTINGTON—The boys and girls club of Cedar county, which has been making a study of purebred hogs and livestock judging, met, after their year's work on the subjects, to report and to plan next year's work. Sarah Newton, daughter of a farmer near here, won the county prize for the pig work this year, her pig being judged the best of those entered in competition.

Urge Attack on Smut.

BLAIR—The county agent urged farmers to use copper carbonate to eliminate the spores of stinking smut in wheat, before the wheat is planted. He gave the receipt for mixing the solution in which the wheat is to be immersed before planting.

Boys and girls clubs of the county anticipated to a great extent in the county fair. Beef, pig and girls clothing and cooking clubs made up exhibits and demonstrations for the fair. The county agent this week made public a record of the work done at the fair by the boys and girls and the prizes won by them on their exhibits and work there.

Report on Hessian Fly.

WAHOO—County Agent Roberts gave a detailed report of the tests being conducted at Wahoo and Beatrice to ascertain the dates when it is safe to plan wheat in order to be free from Hessian fly infestation. It is thought that the flies will soon be through the emergence period, so that the fly-free date may be announced.

Three young men and women, who have participated in the agricultural boys and girls club work of the county for some time have entered the Nebraska university agricultural college this year, according to the county agent. They are Eleanor Borreson, Franklin Cook and Paul Fauquet. Thelma Odman, a former club girl, is also registered at the university, but is not taking agricultural courses.

This is the best time to plan baby beef clubs for next year, the county agent said. He advised boys who are contemplating membership in the clubs of the county to be on the watch for their calves, as they should be started on feed about November 1.

Cholera Losses Near Lincoln.

LINCOLN—Hog cholera has occasioned heavy losses to farmers in and near College View, a suburb, according to the county agent. Three farmers in that district have lost several hogs from the disease. Three adjoining neighbors also lost heavily. Several hogs were saved by vaccintion, but the shoats were a total loss.

Last year the county lost heavily from cholera and an effort is being made this year to keep the disease in check through vaccination of the animals, according to the agent. He said that at this time of year the farmer should inspect his hogs at least twice daily and at the least sign of sickness have a post mortem examination made, to avoid an outbreak of cholera.

Corn in the county is practically out of danger from frost, he said. Dry weather has put the corn in advance stage he added.

Advise Gathering Seed Corn.

DAKOTA CITY—Seed corn selection was brought to the farmers' attention by the county agent, who said that "recent cold weather has made us realize that we are getting to the time of year when we are dangerously near frost." "A few farmers report that they now have corn in the field which, if properly cared for, will make good seed," he said.

The eleven Dakota county baby beef club members exhibited their calves at the interstate fair at Sioux City, Ia. Seven of the calves were Hereford entered by Paul Beacon of Pigeon creek precinct. This calf took third in a class of forty-three. The county placed upon about this average in all the beef exhibits. It also participated in the sale that followed the fair.

A few outbreaks of hog cholera continue to be reported to the farm bureau office here and "this should be a warning to farmers to vaccinate their herds," the county agent said. "There is absolutely no reason why we should have large losses from cholera and yet we continue to hear of these losses," the agent said.

The boys and girls clubs of the county will hold their annual achievement day at the Brushy Bend school Saturday, September 7. The forenoon will be given to placing of exhibits in the building and to holding of regular club meetings. During the afternoon a program of short addresses, songs and demonstrations will be carired out All persons interested in club work have been invited.

Dr. B. W. Boyd of the bureau of animal husbandry and Dr. L. R. Cantwell of the Nebraska livestock sanitary board, met with the county farm bureau to plan the area testing of cattle for bovine tuberculosis. Under present plants the first testing will start the first Monday in October. All farmers will be given the opportunity of having their cattle tested, without charge.

Baby Beef Clubs Profitable.

SYRACUSE—The county agent pointed out that calves entered at the state fair with the regular calf club boys and girls club exhibits were bringing financial reimbursement to their owners, and advised parents to enter their youngsters in the boys and girls baby beef clubs before November 1 so that the maximum feeding time may be given to the young stockmen and women.

An engineer from the state agricultural college assisted Sam Pickerell, farmer, in this county, last week to survey his fields for soil saving dams, which are to be made of brush and straw to keep the soil erosion down.

Women's clubs of the county have been meeting with their leaders to plan the conclusion of their studies of foods and nutrition for the year.

Farmers from all parts of the county reported that they still find chinch bugs and that the large numbers threaten heavy infestation next year. In view of this, the county agent suggested that an intense cleaning and burning campaign be carried on this fall. Grasses along the edges and roadsides should be burned off so that it will not harbor the bugs, he suggested.

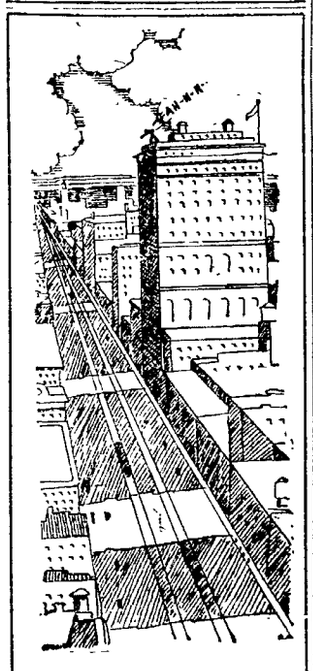

Plans for the health contest to be held at the county fair at Syracuse October 9 and 10, are complete. Two entries may be made from each boys and girls club of the county and dental and physical examination will be made of all entrants.

Time to Cull Flocks.

GENEVA—The county agent advised that this is a good time of the year to cull chicken flocks, as the boarders may be weeded out and the flock reduced to a convenient size for winter facilities. He offered to assist in staging demonstrations of flock culling at any time farmers or their wives find it convenient.

Prize money awarded at the county and state fair is now being mailed to more than sixty boys and girls of the county, the county agent announced. The total winnings from both fair associations, for all the entrants will run over $250, he said.

Local committees in Milligan and Geneva are making big plans for the stops at these places of the Burlington better sires train, from which will come two purebred bulls to be exchanged for scrub bulls in these communities. This is the only county in which the train is to make stops. The exchange is the result of the co-operation of the state agricultural college, the dairy development society and the railroad.

CONTINUES TO FIGHT DAWES

In Two Minnesota Speeches Thursday Wheeler Flays Opponent.

(Associated Press.)

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 26.—Two audiences in northern Minnesota, the last which he will address in the state this campaign, heard Senator Wheeler, independent candidate for vice president, discuss issues on which Senator La Follette and himself appeal for support.

General Dawes, republican candidate for vice president, came in for renewed criticism, in both talks. Senator Wheeler travelled 150 miles by automobile into the iron mining country to make the first address at Virginia, but came back to Duluth for the second and final appearance.

"I'm glad to come up here into the iron range, where the steel trust once dominated," he said at Virginia, "to find that its power in politics is now broken and the workers and the farmers have combined to elect their own representatives and to govern themselves. That is what we did in Montana, where we had the copper trust and that is what we propose for progressives to do with the national government."

Senator Wheeler also repeated his charges of corruption in the republican national administration. He left to continue his tour into Iowa late last night.

POSTAL METER INSTALLED HERE

Government Device For Cancelling Mail Operating Nebraska Buick Co.

A new device called a postal meter, intended to speed up the routing of letters and to relieve congestion in the postoffice, caused by the flood of mail sent out by large business firms, has been installed in Lincoln. The first machine was installed in the Nebraska Buick company's office. Others will be installed in the offices of the Woodman Accident company and the University Publishing company.

The postal meter enables the company to seal, stamp and postmark the outgoing mail, thus relieving the workers at the postoffice of the task. Many firms send out great quantities of mail each day. It has been necessary to run this through the postmarking machines at the postoffice, often causing congestion, when the run is heavy. By doin gthis at the company's office the postoffice is relieved of the work.

The meter was set and locked Thursday by Postmaster McClay, W. R. Greene, representative of the manufacturer and H. J. Sowles of the Nebraska Buick company. The meter consists of two parts, one handling 2 cent mail and the other 1 cent mail. The machine was set for 25,000 and 10,000 pieces respectively. When that amount of mail has gone through the machine it is automatically locked and must be set again by the postal officials. The use of the machine was authorized by an act of congress.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—Not since the mobilization days of 1914 have the streets of Berlin witnessed such an outbreak of patriotic enthusiasm as that which greeted the ZR-3 today when the giant dirigible set off against an early morning pale grey sky, majestically floated into view of the multitudes which jammed the streets, public squares and house tops of every section of the capital.

From soon after dawn the crowds had been gathering, awaiting a chance to greet the great airship built by the Zeppelin works for the United States navy, to which it will be consigned after a trans-Atlantic flight to Lakehurst, N. J.

At the Staaken airdrome the ZR-3 slowed down long enough to drop a parcel of mail, meanwhile receiving wireless greetings from the nephew of the late Count Zeppelin, and from Major von Pareval, German aviation expert, who were among the thousands of spectators who had motored from Berlin to get a close up view of the dirigible.

President Ebert watched the airship from the gardens adjoining the executive mansion.

Both boys gave their ages as 17 years and said their home is at Cheyenne, Wyo.

QUALITY CORNER

Happy Is The Mother when the baby is well

Constipation is the bane of babies. Prevent it with half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

IT requires no long experience in the bringing up of children to understand that food waste must pass out of the system promptly, and so the intelligent mother will watch the baby's stools.

In infancy the child should have two or three passages in 24 hours, and in childhood one or two. Less than that will soon tell in canker sores, coated tongue, foul breath and restlessness. As these signs develop, promptly give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in a few hours the symptoms will vanish.

Thousands of mothers have reared proud families with no other medicine than Syrup Pepsin, for it has relieved their families of constipation for thirty years. Rev. Mary F. Malcolm, Belle River, Ill., and Mrs. James Richmire, Sterlingville, N. Y., have had great success with it and constantly urge others to use it.

Here you have a laxative ideally suited to family purposes, as it acts gently and without griping, is exceptionally pleasant to take, and contains no opiates or narcotics.

The formula is clearly stated on every package and is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. A bottle, which can be had at any drug store, lasts a family months and costs an average of less than a cent a dose. Give one-half to a teaspoonful, according to age, for constipation, biliousness, loss of appetite, flatulence, belching, and to ward off fevers and colds. You will be grateful to see your child have natural sleep without the use of opiates.

Use it yourself and give it to the adults in the family. There will be less sickness, less absence from work and school. When you see what Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does for you you will discard pills and powders and salts and coal-tar drugs disguised in candy. A remedy like this, that sells over 10 million bottles annually, the largest sale in the world, must have superior merit. We guarantee it or refund your money.

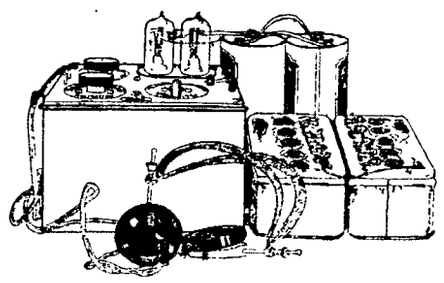

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 518 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them postpaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Cannot Understand.

Dear Minerva: My wife has suffered what the doctor calls a nervous breakdown, brought on he said by the monotonous round of housework and caring for the children. Now wouldn't that get you? I'm sorry enough for the wife. But how could she let herself get that way over housework? We live simple lives and when she is tired she can always rest. What is a little housework compared to a man's work? George.

A. You show plainly that you know nothing about housework or the caring of children or you would have more understanding as well as sympathy. A woman's work is literally never done, and when it continues without a break in the monotony, year after year, it often causes a nervous breakdown in a highly organized woman.

The running of a household and children requires constant planning and scheming and a continual round of petty duties, to be done over and over again. With children a schedule cannot be made and followed but is subject to numerous irritating and trying changes during the day.

A housewife needs some time each day to devote absolutely to herself, free from the children and from all reminders of her duties.

The husband will say "Why don't you take a nap?" But unless there is someone to relieve her of the responsibility of the children for an hour, even that relaxation is denied her as a regular thing.

I am wondering how many husbands would suffer a nervous breakdown if they should change places with the wife.

Reformer's Life Hard

Dear Minerva: After reading Chic's outburst, I couldn't resist the impulse to grab my pen and scribble a defense for Ardent. I disagree with Chic's judgement of Ardent, that is that she and others are acting like children. That is a vague and indefinite statement but I suppose she means they are acting foolish. I have read all the letters written by Ardent during the last year and have found nothing ridiculous in any of them. She has firm convictions and is not afraid to air them. She is one of the most courageous contributors to this column.

After reading Ardent's lectures on dancing, I did not gain the impression that all dance headed straight for Hell. Ardent did not say that, so if Chic got the impression it is her own fault. Ardent's attacks have been launched against the public dance.

The life of a reformer is always hard. Anyone can drift with the current, but only the few have the courage to fight the current. The progress in this world has not been brought about by drifters. If the human race had depended on them for progress we would still be living in caves. The people who have brought progress have been those wandered from the beaten paths, in other words, the reformers. Jesus, the greatest man who ever lived, was a very radical reformer.

Don't get the idea that I am some old maid or bachelor. The opinion of many people seems to be that all reformers are sour-faced individuals who have been disappointed in life and are taking out their grudge against the world by abusing it. I am just an eighteen year old university student. I don't believe in reform law, but I do believe in reform.

Chic said, "I can't believe this world is as wrong as Ardent tries to picture it. It's all right, only it needs a little fixing." In that statement she contradicts her self. If the world needs fixing it is not all right. That is the fact that Ardent has been demonstrating. Chic continues, "Too many of us strut around with the 'Holier-than-thou' attitude." I suppose she aimed that shaft at Ardent also. I have heard that statement hurled at almost every person who has high ideals. It can be applied with equal inappropriateness to Buddha, Confucius, the Hebrew prophets, Jesus and a more recent reformer, Abraham Lincoln. All these men did what they could to improve the world but anyone with clear vision knows that there still are plenty of defects in it that require a remedy.

The fact that a man sees the defects in the world as it truly is, does not necessarily mean that that person is a pessimist. It is simply common sense or intelligence. Burying your head in the sand like an ostrich will not help this world. That is one of the greatest faults that people have. The reason why progress is so slow is because so many people shut their eyes and say "The world is fine." It may be fine for them but one individual is not the world. The fact that you are prosperous and happy does not mean that the world has no faults. Only an extreme egoist can make such a conclusion. There are thousands of people in our asylums, reformatories, and penitentiaries. Our cities are filled with overworked and underpaid girls, many of whom incidentally resort to prostitution to keep the wolf from the door. There are millions of workmen in this world who are toiling for enough money to pay for just the bare necessities of life.

The result of modern civilization has been a gradual decadence in the physical health of the nation. Many people believe that because the average span of life is longer now than it was fifty years ago, people are healthier than they were. That does not follow. Formerly, the unfit died in infancy. Now they are preserved. Those that did survive in the pioneer days often reached the century mark. At the present time, few reach it.

The person who is truly great and worth while in this world is the one who sees things as they are, not as he thinks they are, and applies himself to improve them. He can be an optimist by feeling that the world can be improved instead of deceiving himself into thinking that the world is perfect as it is.

I have reached the end of my lecture. If some sweet young thing is preparing to write a violent protest against the usurpation of so much space in this column by a tiresome moralist such as I, when she wants to inquire whether it is proper to kiss her escort once or twice when they part, I apologize to her now to save her a two-cent stamp. I simply had to get this off my chest, but I promise not to repeat the offense very often. An Idealist.

Hogs Harvest Corn Profitably.

SEWARD—The harvesting of corn by hogs thriugh the hogging down process, is a very desirable link in the harvesting machine on the farm, according to the county agent. He said that "many farmers are learning that when properly handled this process is amost successful and profitable practice. It saves a great amount of labor during the rush season when outside labor is needed and it immediately returns to the soil most of the fertility in the corn crop," he said.

ARMENIA THANKS AMERICA FOR AID

Bishop Shayler Tells Knife And Fork Club Of Near East Starvation.

Excoriates Politicians For Increasing Suffering By Refusal to Enter League.

Conditions in the Near East were described to the Knife and Fork club by Bishop E. V. Shayler of Omaha, at the first fall dinner meeting of the club held Thursday evening at the chamber of commerce. The action of American politicians refusing to aid "the suffering remnant of a martyred nation by entering the league of nations" was bitterly scored by the bishop, who recently returned from an extensive tour of the Near Eastern nations during which he made a survey of conditions.

"But the big heart of America went out beyond the bounds of politics," he said, "and even though our country has refused them aid through the league, we will care for them in their suffering."

Zadi Gannaway, the five year old Armenian refugee who was adopted by Mr and Mrs C. R. Gannaway, relief workers, was present at the dinner. The bishop contrasted her plight with that of thousands of children among the Greek and Armenian camps of the homeless. Zadi, until her meeting with her foster parents, had suffered from disease and hunger. She sang one stanza of America and a Turkish song for the Knife and Fork members.

Describes America's Work.

The speaker extolled the work of the Greeks in aiding the stricken people. America's part in the relief work was described, and an expression of gratitude to America from Armenian officials was carried by the bishop.

Bishop Shayler related his meeting with the king and queen of England, the archbishop of Canterbury and Mussolini, Italy's facist leader and dictator. His impressions of Egypt were given, also. During his address the bishop urged against a possible future catastrophe by the "yellow menace" by "exercising a humanizing influence in the world, and by imparting religion and aid to all in need, dark skinned and white alike."

E. W. Brown, president of the Knife and Fork club was toastmaster at the dinner. The affair was the first of the dinner meetings which are to be held on the fourth Thursday of each month during the winter. The next dinner will be held at the Lincoln Hotel. Music Thursday evening was offered by Miss Virginia Warey and Miss Velma and Leland Wood.

Commander Drain of the American Legion, Schuyler Bolan and E. T. Meredith of Iowa, are three of the notables with whom the club is to negotiate for speaking engagements during the winter. Secretary Stough announced that luncheon meetings would be held during the second week of each month, the exact day of which is to be announced later.

NEBRASKA APPLE CROP IS MOVING

Found Not To Be Equal To That Of the Previous Year.

Adverse Weather Conditions At Blossom Time Cut Output.

(Special to The Star.)

BROWNVILLE, Neb., Sept. 26—Apples started to move here today, and the railway put on an extra train, which will run daily for the next ten days to handle the increased volume of business from this vicinity, to connect with the main line at Falls City. Three carloads were loaded here today, being destined to Sioux City, Elsie and Creta. Jonathans and Grimes Golden are the varieties moving at present, and the shipments will increase daily, the heaviest movement being reached in about a week, when other varieties will be included. Winesaps will move later for winter and holiday trade.

The movement this season is a little later than usual, due to later ripening conditions. The crop this year is expected to make about ninety carloads. Last year 101 cars were sent from this station, the decrease this year being due to a late cold spring and adverse winds when the blossoms were getting on. The price this year is about twenty-five per cent higher than last season, on account of the shortage of the crop and the increased price of cooperage. Western Nebraska is furnishing the best market at present for bulk shipments, the fancy varieties being barrelled and shipped to Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago, later for holiday trade.

Shubert Shipments.

(Special to The Star.)

SHUBERT, Neb., Sept. 26—Movement at this station and at Verdon just north of here, in the heart of the apple raising territory of southeastern Nebraska, started today, the railway running an extra pickup train for the shipments yesterday. Three carloads were shipped from here Thursday and five will be loaded today, the varieties being mostly Jonathans and Gimes Goldens, and the destination being western Nebraska points.

The movement is expected to increase here daily for ten days or so now. Winesaps wil be shipped later, being barrelled and going to eastern cities for fancy trade, mostly to Kansas City, Chicago and Minneapolis. It is estimated that from 100 to 125 carloads will move from here this season, as against 153 cars shipped last fall, the decrease being due to a failure in the crop this year caused by adverse weather conditions in the spring and at blossom time and to a late frost.

Shortage At Nemaha.

NEMAHA, Neb., Sept. 26—Forty-five carloads of apples are figured from this station, to commence shipment next week and move for about a week. The crop is about seventy-five per cent of what it was last year here. Shipments will be made to Nebraska points, as in former seasons, from here. The grape movement from here and the Brownville vicinity, the center of the vineyards in this territory, is now over. Five thousand baskets more were shipped from here, and 25,000 from Brownville, moving by freight and express. Last season over 50,000 baskets of grapes were shipped. The decrease was due to late frosts and cold weather late in the spring.

Movement At Peru.

(Special to The Star.)

PERU, Neb., Sept. 26—The annual apple crop in this vicinity has started to move. Three carloads were shipped Thursday, and two more today. By next week the movement will be on in full swing, some of the orchards hardly being mature enough yet. It is estimated by growers that a total of sixty carloads will move from here this season, besides what will be handled locally and by auto trucks. Last year eighty cars were shipped from this station. The crop this year was cut by cold in the spring, and by heavy, cold winds at blossom time.

LINCOLN CHURCH COUNCIL MEETS

Progressive Program For City Discussed At Fall Dinner Thursday.

Representatives of 28 Pastorates Present—Dr. Roy Hunt Presides.

Twenty-eight churches, the largest number since the organization of the council, were represented Thursday night by a company of 100 men and women, assembled for the annual fall meeting of the Lincoln council of churches. The dinner was served promptly at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. red room. Dr. Ray Hunt presided.

C. I. Vessey, assisted by a group of high school boys, gave a brief demonstration of the ritualistic service connected with the "Comrades" section of the Christian citizenship program of the Y. M. C. A. He made very clear the ideal of organizing and keeping the groups within the church.

Dr. A. A. Brooks spoke of the value of co-operation of the churches, giving as an example the work recently launched in Lincoln among our Mexican neighbors. Dr. J. A. Holmes followed with an announcement of the plans for "Go to Church Sunday" and recommended that this movement be promoted, not by the ministerial association but by the continuation committee of the home visitation organization which includes all religious bodies.

Mrs. C. R. Gannaway and little Zadi were present for a few minutes. Mrs. Gannaway enlisting the co-operation of all ministers in "Golden Rule Sunday" plans. Mrs. M. L. Troyer of Los Angeles introduced Rev. Encarnadion Garcia, the minister of the Mexican mission church at First and J streets, who related what he hopes to accomplish among his own people in Lincoln.

Rev. Oscar Outritt announced that he will offer this fall a course in language analysis of special interest to pastors and church school workers.

Prof. G. W. Rosenlof, speaking for C. Petrus Paterson of the religious education department suggested that the next steps forward in Lincoln's program will be establishing credit connection with the University of Nebraska for work done in the field of religious education, especially the work of the Lincoln training school for church school workers, and organizing week-day religious education on released public school time.

The final discussion was led by J. W. Searson and W. A. Luke on "What Shall Lincoln Do to Become More Wholesome." Mr. Searson made several constructive suggestions including maternity and child legislation, a change in method of choosing the juvenile judge, and the extension of the city's program of wholesome supervised recreation. John Fuhrer of the Y. M. C. A. displayed a chart showing the number of recreational activities this year entered into by twenty-eight churches in co-operation with the Y. M. C. A., and gave concrete evidence of the spiritual values to be realized from these recreational activities.

W. A. Selleck reported that the amount budgeted by the co-operating churches was not quite sufficient for carrying the work of the council through the year, and that the finance committee recommended that the balance be raised by donations from fifty individuals, the burden to be distributed to the denominations according to the number of members. Rev. C. H. Bream closed the meeting with prayer.

THE SECOND MRS. STRONG

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Matthew Strong marries his stenographer, Julie Benton, and when he brings her home after the honeymoon his daughter Claudia does everything in her power to make things unpleasant. Matthew becomes dissatisfied and wishes he had married Margaret Davenport, a woman in his own class. The Bradford Pierce, a friend of Matthew's, befriends Julie and helps her to develop. Later he falls in love with her and Claudia leads Matthew to believe that Julie returns Bradford's love. In the meantime Claudia falls desperately in love with Harris Fiske, a married man. She plans to elope with him, but is saved from this madness by Julie, who lies in order to protect her from Matthew's displeasure. This softens Claudia's heart toward her step-mother, and later Matthew discovers he has fallen in love with Julie all over again. He feels, however, that Julie has ceased to care for him.

CHAPTER L

Julie at the Crossroads

That afternoon Julie was in her room dressing when a maid knocked at the door and iformed her that Mr. Pierce was downstairs. A strange little feeling, something that she could not explain even to herself, swept over her, and with it the impulse to say that she was not at home.

For a moment she hesitated, and then it occurred to her that such a thing would be eminently unfair. All that she was now, Bradford Pierce had given to her. He had even been responsible for her taste in dress, for it was he who had sent her to Lucienne; and through that clever little Frenchwoman Julie had learned many subtle ways of expressing her personality.

Then there had been plays and concerts and books and many discussions of all three. Yes, if she were different; if she had changed and developed, Bradford Pierce was responsible, and until lately it had never occurred to Julie to wonder why he had done all this for her.

Why had he done it? And, as Julie asked herself this question, a wave of memory rushed over her. That look in his eyes yesterday afternoon—that starting from his chair as he had spoken her name, and her own quick understanding. He cared for her. Whether or not he had cared in the beginning she did not know; but that he did care now she was almost certain, and the thought was not pleasant.

She realized that in a way their pleasant friendship—the one thing she had had to cling to for so long—was at an end. It would be dangerous to continue it; such a thing was out of the question, and then as the thought occurred to her she suddenly remembered Matthew's warning. Something obout Bradford's thinking it strange if she encouraged him. Perhaps she had done that very thing. Perhaps she was responsible for the fact that Bradford cared for her. In that case she was despicable, hateful in her own eyes and entirely to blame.

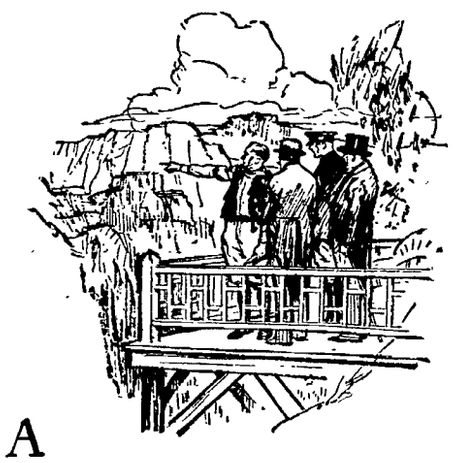

It was with these thoughts warring in her mind that Julie finished dressing. She sat before her three-paneled mirror and reached absently for an enamel and silver atomizer. It wasn't until the alluring, mysterious French perfume drifted to her nostrils that she remembered an evening long ago. The sound of the sea was in her ears, and Matthew had taken up a bottle of cheap perfume from the hotel bureau and, with a few humiliating words, had tossed it out of the window. How hurt she had been, while now she sprayed herself with a perfume chosen expressly to reveal her own personality, and thought nothing of it.

She had not learned this from Matthew, but from Bradford Pierce. And suddenly she thought of how eminently right it would be if she cared for this friend of her husband. It would not matter to Matthew. She was sure of that. Of late she had heard drifting rumors of his friendship with Margaret Davenport. She could not help being aware that he was seeing Margaret frequently. Once she herself had seen them together in a New York tearoom, and from a distance she had noticed how devoted Matthew was and how vivaciously Margaret had responded to him. Quite suddenly she visualized Margaret in Matthew's arms, and as she did so the memory of last night rushed over her.

Once more she was enveloped in the almost cruel pressure of his arms and kisses. Why had he done that? Had it been to humiliate her, to make her realize that, no matter what he did, she herself was occupying the exalted position of being a wife to him? She must be like Caesar's wife, while he could do exactly as he pleased.

It was with her head held high that Julie rose from her dressing table and descended the stairs to the library where Bradford Pierce was waiting.

A distinguished coffee meets many distinguished people

It is the glorious West that visitors from abroad most want to see in America. Not the least of the thrills they relate back home is that "wonderful western coffee!" And thus has the coffee tradition spread to every Old World capital.

You know their enthusiasm is well founded the moment you break the vacuum seal of a tin of Hills Bros. Red Can Coffee and release that rare aroma. You are doubly sure when you taste the flavor. As one zealot said, "They may copy the can, but not its contents!"

With all its high quality, Hills Bros. Coffee is not high-priced. It is economical to buy—and economical to use. Hills Bros., San Francisco.

FATHER AND SON WEEK NOV. 9-16

Committee Appointed To Prepare For Local Observance of National Event.

Special Church Services to Perpetuate "Pal" Spirit Between Dad and Boy.

At the meeting of the boy's work committee of the Lincoln Y. M. C. A., held Wednesday noon, a committee was appointed by Chairman Charles N. Cadwallader to work with executive secretary C. I. Vessey in drawing up tentative plans for local observance of national father and son week November 9-16, 1924.

The committee comprises J. W. Searson, O. M. Adams, F. F. Travis.

A meeting is called for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear the report of this committee.

Promotion of the week will rest largely with the Lancaster county "boy and church commission," consisting of approximately one hundred men. They represent the boys' work committee of the various churches.

The activities will be promoted to a great extent through church groups and the plans will likely include a father and son service in each church on Sunday, and a banquet in each church during the week. On armistice day there may be arranged a big boy parade and a mass meeting of father and sons to be addressed by a national speaker.

A total of 13,500 fathers and sons attended the weeks program last year.

Calls Excuse Beating Devil Around the Bush

"Beating the devil around the bush" was the way Evangelist John H. LeGrand in his meeting at the Tabernacle Christian church, Twenty-second and South, described an excuse. "Excuses are as old as Adam and Eve. An excuse is something behind which people try to hide," he said.

"Some folks say, 'get the hypocrites out of your church, then we will join it.' Friends they're already out. They may have their names on a church roll but that doesn't mean that they are saved. But after all," declared the evangelist, "I would rather be in the attitude of some folks whom you may call hypocrites than to be in your place, because the hypocrites, though stumbling, has stumbled toward his God.

"You cannot hide behind a thing, unless you are smaller than that thing, and the man or woman who tries to hide behind a hypocrite and his imperfections is surely smaller than he."

"I can't hold out," said Evangelist LeGrand, "is one of the excuses I hear most. Hold out? Why, of course not, you are to hold on, just a day at a time. If some of us knew all that was ahead of us in life we might despair right now. But holding on a day at a time we get through. If you used the same judgment about holding out you never would have married, for fear you would turn a June wedding into a September divorce, or you wouldn't have eaten that last full meal for fear you could not hold out to digest it."

The large audience listened to the closing plea. "Brother, friend of mine, don't beat the devil around the bush any longer, step out for God. The biggest, best and happiest in life is found in Christ's way."

Authors Prepare Bibliography For State Teachers

Miss Rose B. Clark, principal of elementary education in the Teacher's Training school is the author of the geography "Courses of Study for the Elementary Schools of Nebraska," 1924 and 1925.

Professor F. M. Fogg of the psychology department is the author of the course in physiology, and hygiene in the same book.

These two instructors during their work in the teacher's institute over the state this fall have discovered a need for a bibliography to assist in the carrying out of these courses. They have met repeated will help the teacher to follow the requests for lists of books which course prescribed. These lists have been compiled by Miss Clark and Professor Gregg, and are now being distributed to the teachers throughout the state with the compliments of Nebraska Wesleyan university. The university is also sending out a list of books for use in rural schools. This latter list is one that was chosen by a joint commission appointed by the American Library association, and the National Educational association as the twenty-five best books for use in the rural schools.

NAME GOVERNOR SMITH FRIDAY

Gotham Democrats' "Favorite Son" Again Chosen for Gubernatorial Office.

(Associated Press.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The democratic state convention in a brief harmonious session Thursday, listened to a keynote speech by Francis E. Cullen of Oswego, adopted routine and adjourned until 11 o'clock today, when Governor Al Smith will be renominated by acclamation.

Mr. Cullen, in his address, attacked the republican convention in Washington, accused Coolidge of having placed the welfare of his party above that of the nation, and highly commended the administration of Governor Smith.

He launched a vigorous attack upon the Ku Klux Klan, which brought the delegates and spectators to their feet with resounding cheers. Praise of John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, was the signal for a three minute demonstration.

WASHINGTON Sept 26—The big guns of the progressive party will be unlimbered all over the country next week for a month of intensive campaigning that will extend to election day it was announced today at La Follette Wheeler headquarters

La Follette initinerary has been nearly completed It calls for an invasion of New England firs

If his managers wishes prevail La Follette will not make more than one speech a day on the trip The senator has told friends however that once on the road he wanted to speak every day and three or four times a day too

To Coast From Chicago

La Follette will go to the coast from Chicago by the northern route swing south down the Pacific and return to the middle west through Arizona New Mexico Colorado Kansas Oklahoma and Missouri

For weeks La Follette has been gathering material for his addresses Speeches for the first two weeks are now virtually completed it was said

AIR CARNIVAL HERE

Five Planes to Take Part In Pageant at South Lincoln Field.

Landing Stunt of Ralph Parcaut to Be Feature of Program.

Lincoln has been promised several sensational airplane thrills at the aerial pageant to be staged over the flying field on South Twentieth street. A program, which will last during the entire afternoon, has been arranged by the Lincoln Standard Aircraft corporation The public has been invited to view the spectacle

Five airplanes will take part in the carnival Among them, according to Ray Page, head of the Lincoln corporation, is a German Fokker fighting scout, said to be the only original ship of this type in the United States

The main event of the pageant will be the landing stunt of Ralph Parcaut, claimant of the world's middle weight wrestling champion Parcaut, according to Mr Page, will land from a rope slung under an airplane moving at 60 miles an hour This feat is said to have never before been attempted by any other flyer Parcaut himself has performed it publicly but 12 times. The plane from which the wrestler will land is a Lincoln standard It will be piloted by Ray Shifflett of Des Moines, Iowa

Battle Formation Flights

The air carnival will start at 1 o'clock with battle formation flights, during which five planes will demonstrate maneuvers used in aerial warfare J Hodgenes Smith will follow this event in the Fokker, performing stunt flying at a speed of 130 miles an hour

Robert Cochrane will land in a plane after its engine has been shut off 3,000 feet above the ground

Difficult acrobatics on the wings of a flying plane will be performed by Sergeant E Chambers, who claims the world's record for parachute jumping Chambers dropped from a plane at a height of 26,800 feet at Kansas City, in October, 1921. On this occasion it took him 31 minutes to reach the earth. The ship on which he will perform will be piloted by Earl Barnes, of Lincoln.

After other exhibitions of stunt flying and formation drills, Chambers will jump from a plane 5,000 feet in the air.

It was announced Thursday by Mr. Page that between performances of the aviators passengers will be taken up on sight-seeing trips over Lincoln. Charges for these trips, he said, would be lower than ever before

"Many children have often wished to enjoy the thrill of flying, but usually have been detracted by the high rates charged by commercial aviators," Mr Page said "We want to let the youngsters of Lincoln have this experience For that reason it was decided to reduce the price for them"

Passengers will be invited by Sergeant Chambers to accompany him on the trip in which he performs his parachute jump The public, also, will have the opportunity of participating in the flight maneuvers

PEKING—The headquarters of Wu Pei-Fu, the commander-in-chief of the Peking government army denies the report from Mukden that Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, has captured chaoyan on the Chihli-Manchurian border On the contrary, it is asserted that town is defended by a majority of the Thirteenth division, which has already arrived here

Bobby and Coast Wizard Loom as Finalists In Title Tourney

GOLFERS CLASH IN SEMI-FINALS

Jones Squares Off Against Ouimet; Marston Takes On Von Elm.

Atlanta Youth Far Out In Front of Ouimet; Marston 6 Down to Von Elm.

JONES AND VON ELM OFF TO OVERWHELMING LEAD

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Finalists in the national amateur golf championship were virtually determined beyond the peradventure of chance this morning, when Bobby Jones led Francis Ouimet, 8 up, and George Von Elm topped Max Marston, defending champion, by 6 up, at the end of eighteen holes play in the semi-final round.

Ouimet and Marston were outplayed completely, the former winning only one hole from Jones during the morning round. Von Elm got the jump on Marston, after making the turn for home 3 up. He shot the final nine in 35 against the champion's 41.

THURSDAY GOLF RESULTS.

Robert T. Jones, Atlanta, defeated Rudolph Knepper, Chicago, 6 and 4.

Francis Ouimet, Boston, defeated Jesse P. Guilford, Boston, 4 and 3.

Max Marston, Philadelphia, defeated Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 2 and 1.

George Von Elm, Los Angeles, defeated E. H. Driggs, New York, 7 and 6.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept 26—Fate and the inevitable survival of the fittest more than defied Kipling this morning when east not only met west in the semi-final round of the national amateur championship, but pursued the matter to its geographical limits and insisted that north meet south.

The north was Francis Ouimet of Boston, a golfer always, perhaps a scholar and certainly a gentleman; the south was Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, equally as popular as Ouimet, and generally recognized as a better golfer.

The east was Max Marston of Philadelphia, present titleholder: the west was George Von Elm of Los Angeles, regarded as the most promising of the new generation which defies precedent and sometimes trifles with a champion's dignity. Von Elm has been playing in championships for several years, but has just begun to take himself seriously.

Champion Meets Champion.

From the standpoint of national significance, the Jones-Ouimet match was the headliner. Both former champions, around whom the glamour of romance has thrown a glow.

Ouimet, unheard of before the national open championship of 1913, finished in a tie with Harry Vardon and Ted Ray at Brookline by sinking a long putt through a pool of water and the following day beat both in the play-off for the title. That incident made golf in America what it is today.

Ouimet won the amateur championship in 1914, but thereafter he has gone uncrowned in national tournaments.

Jones became a character almost active in 1916 when he first appeared in the amateur championships on this same course at the tender age of 14. Bobby not only qualified, but stepped on to the third round before he was eliminated. In 1919 at Oakmont he went all the way to the final round, only to be beaten by Davidson Herron of the home club.

In the open championships of 1920, 1921 and 1922, Jones was one of the abiding factors in the final rating, placing well up in the first ten and at Skokie losing the title by one stroke only to Gene Sarazen. But in 1923 he finally came into his first championship when he won the open at Inwood after a play-off with Bob Cruikshank.

Prophets Pick Jones.

But to this day, the amateur title has evaded him, yet if any bets were made around the first tee this morning, they were to the effect that Bobby Jones would step right over Francis Ouimet to the final round and thence to the honor so long denied him.

In any case, his next two hurdles are high ones. Granting that he did eliminate Ouimet, the Atlanta Aladdin needs must take on a trenchent opponent in the final round.

Marston not only is the existing champion, but has the fighting heart of the bulldog. So has Von Elm. Both have the golf to take them anywhere. Human limitations recognize no more than that.

Jones and Ouimet halved the first two holes in par figures, each playing well.

Jones became one up by winning the third hole, 3 to 4. Here Bobby drove the short green from the tee and took the conventional two putts, while Ouimet, just off the green with his tee shot, proceeded to strongarm his approach and took a four.

PUNTS and PASSES

Open Practice Saturday.

Gates to Nebraska's practice field will swing wide open Saturday afternoon. Coach Dawson announced Friday that Cornhusker varsity teams would go into action in a scrimmage contest much on the order of the Wednesday workout. With officials in charge to slap on penalties for rule violations and a linesman to mark off yardage, varsity will clash with varsity in a regular football game. The kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

That Dawson isn't satisfied with the defensive prowess of the Cornhusker forward wall was in evidence during the Thursday afternoon practice drill on Nebraska's sawdust-covered workout field. The greater portion of the practice period was devoted to an intensive drill of the forward candidates, the first-string linemen being pitted against the second-stringers in the stiffest workout of the fall campaign to date. Forwards were instructed in the tricks of blocking and of breaking through, after which the first-team backs, working behind the second team line, hurled a series of line plunges and off-tackle drives at the first-string forwards.

Drill In Forward-Passing.

Assistant Coach "Bill" Kline, varsity tutor in basketball, had his first whirl at instructing the backs and ends in a forward-passing system, both offensive and defensive. This phase of Nebraska's preparations for the Illinois game, slated for Octo. 4 at the Memorial stadium, will require persistent daily workouts if the Huskers are to get anywhere in their aspirations to cross the Illinois goal.

Reliable information from the Zuppke camp confirms pre-season predictions that the Illini will present a powerful line comprising five of last year's regular forwards. A wealth of sophomore material reported to Zuppke last week for the practice grind and the new men in the Illinois camp are reputed to be showing so much stuff that two or three of the line regulars may be crowded to the sidelines, making room for Zuppke's new line stars.

String of Speedy Backs.

The fact that Nebraska has a string of exceptionally fast backs, notably Locke, Bloodgood and Mandery, working back of a pair of veteran ends in Rhodes and Robertson, does not necessarily mean that the Cornhuskers should easily master a forward-passing attack. Aerial football, at its best, is the most uncertain department of an offense—it demands persistent practice if the passing game is to be a success.

The varsity first-string aggregation in action Thursday was virtually the same as the one which lined up Wednesday in the scrimmage combat on the sod field. Molzen, however, was in action at one tackle stations, alternating with Wostoupal, who is regularly displaying a varsity grade of football which makes him available at center, tackle or guard.

"Rock" Has Veteran Backs.

Coach Knute Rockne in concentrating on the development of material for the Notre Dame line, according to the most recent advices from the camp of the "Fighting Hibernians." Rockne lost only a few of his 1923 regulars by graduation and when the line is patched up, the coach figures the "Irish" will be ready to go. The backfield will present a veteran combination in Layden, Crowley, Miller and Stuhldreher. In a 15-minute scrimmage Wednesday, the line played ragged football, but the backs dazzled to the extent of four touchdowns, getting away for long gains in spite of the disappointing showing by the forwards.

Henry Schulte, Jr.

Absence of "Indian" Schulte from the Nebraska workouts of the past two days has been explained. Henry Schulte, Jr., scaling nine and one-half pounds and the first-born of the family, kicked off Wednesday night in the inauguration of an athletic career designed to drive his sire to a sideline seat with the subs.

"Terrible" Thomsen a "Pro."

Fred "Terrible" Thomsen, Cornhusker end during three seasons of football terminating in 1922, is dallying with professional football at Rock Island, Ill. Teaming with Thomsen are footballers of such note as Jim Thorpe at fullback; Slater, famous Iowa negro, and Cotton, Notre Dame, at tackles; and Thompson, Iowa, and Burton, Wash-Jeff, at guards. Thomsen is holding down one of the wing positions. In a letter to The Star, "Terrible" relates that he has recommended to the Rock Island management that if immediately negotiate with "Pid" Purdy, now playing baseball with Lincoln's Western leaguers.

Lewis-Mondt Stage Act On Western Mat

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—The match between Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, and Joe "Toots" Mondt, Colorado cowboy grappler, ended in a draw here last night.

Lewis won the first fall of the two-hour limit contest in an hour and ten minutes of wrestling with a headlock, and Mondt took the second in 37 minutes, 19 seconds with a jackknife scissors hold. They were still grappling on even terms for the third fall when the time limit expired.

In the preliminaries Frank Lamarr defeated Pat McGill of Omaha, and Dick Daviscourt defeated Ray Steele of Iowa.

Gloom Descends On Nebraska City Camp

(Special to The Star.)

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Sept. 26.—Gloom descended on the Nebraska City high school grid camp this week when, with the opening game with Verdon drawing near, several regulars were forced to the sidelines because of injuries.

Holmberg, tackle, is one with a wrenched knee and McWilliams and Brakeslee have muscle bruises.

In a practice game, Nebraska City turned back the Sidney, Ia., eleven. The game was ragged, Nebraska City not being able to score until the latter part of the game.

Good Prospects On Pender High Grid

(Special to The Star.)

PENDER, Neb., Sept. 26—Prospects are very bright for a fast team at Pender high school this year. Coach William E. Putman has a veteran backfield but must develop a new line.

Captain Ed Flynn is going strong at an end, while Welsh, Girardot and Freed are showing up well in the backfield.

Pender defeated Emerson in the opening game of the season, 6 to 0. The schedule follows:

Sept 26—Lyons at Pender
Oct 3.—Bancroft at Pender.
Oct. 10—Oakland at Oakland.
Oct. 17—Wakefield at Wakefield.
Oct. 24—Rosalie at Pender.
Oct. 31—Tekamah at Tekamah.
Nov. 11—Blair at Pender.
Nov. 21—Decatur at Pender.

GRIDIRONERS ON SATURDAY BOOK

Pigskin Gladiators Taking First Fling At The Fall Sport.

Nebraska Wesleyan On Card To Perform Against Ames Aggies.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—While there are no games of thrilling importance on the schedule for tomorrow, the 1924 football season nevertheless will swing into its first big day of the year. There are a sufficient number of features according to the schedules, to hold the eyes of the fans, briefly at least.

Most interest probably will settle in the middlewest, where several teams of major importance last year will have action against teams of minor importance. The east will claim its share of attention in the games to be played by Bucknell, Columbia and Cornell. Other major eastern games are scheduled, but the changes which have been made at the three mentioned schools make them the focus points.

Nebraska Wesleyan at Ames.

In the mid-west, Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa State are carded, Indiana will be opposed to Rose Polytechnic, Iowa State against Nebraska Wesleyan and Wisconsin takes the gridiron against North Dakota.

Considerable attention probably will be given Bucknell's opening clash at Lewisburg with Western Maryland, inasmuch as it is at Bucknell that Coach Charlie Moran, the man who made Centre college "Colonels," famous makes his bow this year.

Cornell, minus the great George Pfann, will be watched closely by critics and fans as to result of its meeting with Saint Bonaventure, which, however, promises to be only a practice romp.

Columbia meets Haverford at New York in its opening struggle.

Georgia Tech In Action.

In the south Georgia Tech tackles its old rival in Oglethorpe. North Carolina State meets Trinity at Raliegh, and Auburn journeys to Birmingham for its annual battle with Birmingham-Southern.

California furnishes the only game of importance in the far west, the state university Bears tackling Santa Clara at Berkeley. Southern California meets California Tech at Los Angeles.

Harlan Wyant Is Football Coach At South Sioux

SOUTH SIOUX CITY Neb., Sept. 26—Harlan Wyant, former University of Nebraska athlete, is coaching at South Sioux City high school this year. Wyant's team defeated Newcastle in the opening game of the season, 12 to 0. The line-plunging of Halfback Harold Allaway and the work of the line featured.

Ten letter men are back at the local high school. Warren Armour is captain of the team. The veterans on the squad are Captain Armour and Allaway, halfbacks; Wayne Lampman, fullback; William Thacker, quarterback; Harry Brindley and Garland Reichle, ends; Sam Graffes and Armond Fisher, tackles; Cecil Oaton, guard; Stanley Johansen, center. The schedule:

Sept. 26—Norfolk at South Sioux City.
Oct. 2—Emerson at South Sioux City.
Oct. 10—Ponca at Ponca

What's That Penalty For?

EDITED BY SOL METZGER.

Q—Team A is carrying ball. On third down, with five yards to gain, its fullback fumbles ball. Another back of team A recovers ball on scrimmage line. Is team A given first down at this point?

A.—No. Play counts as a down under Rule 19, Sec 1. Team A has had ball constantly in its possession. That is, team B has not had possession of ball.

Q—Team A is carrying ball. On third down, with 5 yards to gain, fullback of team A fumbles the ball. Ball is recovered beyond scrimmage line by player of team B, who is tackling fumbles ball. This fumble is recovered by player of team A. What down is it and which team holds ball?

A.—It is first down for team A at the point one of its players recovers fumble. In this case the ball actually passed into possession of opponents before team A finally recovers it. Rule 19, Sec. 2 (a).

Q.—Team A attempts forward pass and ball strikes one of its linemen, ineligible to receive the pass, and is caught by defensive team and run back up the field. Does the umpire rule that ball goes to opponents at spot of previous down?

A.—Under Rule 17, Sec. 7 (A), last paragraph, defensive team may refuse penalty and take the gain.

Q.—Player of team attempting to make forward pass, who is eligible to receive it, touches the ball but fails to hold it. Another eligible player of his team also touches it but fails to hold it. Opponent then catches ball. Is it the opponents' ball.

A.—Yes, if the opponents' captain refuses the penalty for two eligible players of passing team touching the ball. Read Rule 17, Sec. 7 (a), paragraphs three and four.

Q.—A forward pass by Team A is knocked in air and out-of-bounds by player of team B. Player of team A then recovers ball out-of-bounds before it touches ground. Is this a complete forward pass?

A.—Yes, at point ball crossed side-line Rule 17, Sec. 8.

George Hoover, a new man, is showing considerable speed and is a sure tackler. Jack McCarthy and Marion Maley, a pair of new guards, are fast on their feet. Illinois Rich In Material; Zuppke Slow In Naming First String

ZUP UP STUMP TO PICK FIRST TEAM

Illinois Coach Has So Many Good Ones Doesn't Know Whom to Choose.

String of Sophomores May Force Regulars to Soft Seats On Bench.

(Special to The Star)

URBANA Ill Sept 26—Who will compose the first team that 'Bob Zuppke will use against Nebraska October 4? It seems that even Zup can not begin to answer that question In practice yesterday he continued his experimenting by trying out some new men and rearranging his more experienced players

Bernie Shively sophomore star was moved back to his old guard berth after working out as a tackle for several nights Big Dick Hall also went back to his old position at tackle Leonard Umnus was over the ball instead of Roberts who was acting as center for the second string

The backfield was practically the same as in previous practices Ray Gallivan sophomore find was calling signals with his classmate Leonard carrying the ball. Britton and Red Grange were the others behind the line.

Kassel Second Carney

At ends, Captain Frank E Rokusek and Kassel received a stiff workout on snatching passes out of the air with Britton Grange and Gallivan doing the heaving The Britton-to Grange combination also received a stiff practice Grange was on the heaving end much of the time and it will not be surprising to see someone else grabbing passes during the Nebraska game ins end of Red The work of Kassel as a receiver is reminiscent of the famed Chuck Carney

Dick Hall and Chuck Brown were again playing tackles with Crawford breaking in for a good workout with the regulars Just who u[illegible] e upon for the position is yet guess work Wilson a sophomore and Atwood uncovered by spring football practice are causing the latter men considerable worry about their positions

Shively Shows His Speed

Bernie Shively and 'Windy Miller were next to Umnus at center Shively is a strapping six footer weighing 210 pounds and seems to be the best bet to fill Jim McMillen's place at guard In a little sprint with the linemen of the first team this big monster romped in [illegible] Bodman another spring practice discovery and Slimmer are out after a guard position and are making it tough for Miller and Shively

The fight between Umnus and R[illegible] causing considerable comment Each of these men has given way t the other in practice several times and there is no telling which Zup favors Both have had two years experience and can fill in at any time

Hall On Second Team

The second team was composed of Daugherty and Muhl at ends Crawford and Atwood at tackles Bodman and Slimmer guards and Roberts center The backfield included Harry Hall last years varsity quarterbaack Bussey fullback and Jenks and Heinis Schults halfback

Little Chuck Jenks the 151 pound back playing with the second string was easily the star of the practice He hammered away at the regulars and twice crossed their goal line This has been the first indication of a scrap outside of the team on which 'Red Grange was playing For his good showing Zuppke will probably try him out with the regulars

The Kicking Game.

Why It Wins.

BY "ANDY" SMITH
University of California Coach

How Kicks Are Covered

In the previous articles stress was laid on fast and accurate passings by the center to the kicker [illegible] proper blocking [illegible] opponents by both linemen and backs and the form of the punter in getting off his kicks

In the offensive kicking game it is necessary to have these phases of play perfected in order that the linemen may get away quickly and go down the field to cover the kick. With a fast and accurate pass from center that is not backed up by proper form by the kicker [illegible] result is a delay—the line has to hold longer so the kick will not be blocked This means that the ends alone have to tackle the receiver

That is not safe for often the ends are blocked or delayed in their rush down the field by tackles of the other team who are [illegible] to just this task As a re[illegible] the receiver of punts generally [illegible] quick fast open field runner [illegible] started up the field That means he brings the ball back and overcomes any advantage gained by kicking

Linemen Down the Field

Also a good catcher and open field runner can frequently straight arm one end and dodge the other so it is necessary if he is to be stopped in his tracks that all seven linemen bear down on him as he catches the ball

On punts the line should converge its charge toward center on the snap of the ball hold momentarily—long practice only will teach them the time necessary to block—and then start down the field a top speed spreading out across it in a broadside as they go Generally they have no one to block them so they should arrive at the point where the punt is caught as quickly as the ends who have been interfered with on the defensive backs The ends should always be careful to cover the outside so that in case they fail to tackle they will drive the runner straight up the field where the other linemen are

Stinchcomb Was Smothered

When a line covers kicks fast in this manner it is practically impossible for the best open field runners to return a punt any distance Three or four linemen are sure to tackle him at the same time In the California Ohio State game January 1 1921 Nesbit California's punter averaged 44 yards beyond his line of scrimmage on his fifteen punts all because our line smothered Stinchcomb Ohio State's great back and one of the fastest men in football the moment he caught the ball

Josh Clarke's Crips Victims Of Double Drubbing At Wichita Yard.

(Special to The Star)

WICHITA Kas Sept 26 —Josh Clarke's makeshift Links were victims of two merciless maulings yesterday the Isbells driving through to a pair of victories 16 to 10 and 19 to 2

The Lincoln manager picked up a pair of recruits in an effort to fill the gaps made by injuries to his regulars but the new pastimers added nothing in the way of potency The Izzies hammered Sam Lewis for 15 hits and harvested nine markers in the sixth inning The Links made merry with Sellers to the extent of six runs in the eighth and Jolley went to the mound to halt the [illegible] offensive

McNamara's southpaw flinging featured the second game the Links getting only four safe blows Neither Pallas nor Wilson apparently had a thing with which to puzzle the home sluggers who mauled the leather pellet for 18 safe knocks The scores

Interest of Fandom Turns To Race By Senators And Yankees.

Pirates Down and Out in National; Dodgers Still Have a Chance.

BY H C HAMILTON

NEW YORK Sept 26 — The American league race with the Senators leading by a margin of two games today drew the attention of all fandom

After a lay off of one day during which the National league battle was drawn closer to a decision through the New York victory over Pittsburgh the Senators were to open today against the Boston Red Sox and the Yankees second place club were to engage the Athletics in Philadelphia

Both teams fighting for the American league championship were to meet clubs rated as easy in base ball circles but the Athletics have been trouble makers and are strong enough to give any club a battle

In Boston the Senators admitted they are meeting a club which figures to give them less trouble than do the Athletics with New York

Washington leading by two games can get no worse than a tie now if it wins two of its remaining four games and the Yankees are victorious in four straight. The Yankees can win their fourth straight pennant by winning four straight if Washington loses three out of four

The Giants and Dodgers are left alone at the top of the heap in the National league Two more victories are necessary before the Giants cinch their pennant provided Brooklyn wins its two remaining games

Pirate Ship Riddled

NEW YORK Sept 26—The brave Pirate ship which steamed up the Harlem sportive pennons flying is floating back demolished and riddled a victim of the Giant rocks of Coogan's bluff which checked another Corsair threat two years ago

Artie Nehf perennial nemesis of the Pirate crew yesterday completed the wreck which paralleled so closely the invasion of 1922 when Pittsburgh came here with a seven game lead and was beaten five times by the Giants who then went on to their second straight pennant The score yesterday was 5 to 4

The contest—the third straight defeat for Pittsburgh at the hands of a crippled New York crew—eliminated the Pirates from the National league race which is now a two team battle between the Giants and Robins McGraw's club needs to win only two of its remaining three with the Phillies to clinch the flag

The Phillies upon whom now rests the responsibility of stopping the Giants defeated St Louis 5 to [illegible] in the only other major league game played Thursday

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK Sept 26

Easy money rates and favorable trade news were important contributing factors to the strength of today s stock market Thirty issues many of them southern and southwestern rails, attained new 1924 high prices. Sales approximated 825 000 shares.

Stock prices displayed a firm undertone at the opening of today s market with buying orders well distributed over the general list. Pullman, International Telephone and American Chicle preferred each opened a point higher, the last named and Public Service of New Jersey establishing new 1924 high prices Most of the standard industrials and rails improved fractionally

Railroad shares moved up briskly in reflection of the record breaking car loadings and the sharp curtailment of expenses shown in the August earnings statements now being published Foreign exchanges opened steady

Easy money rates and the plethora of funds available for stock market and commercial purposes continued to favor operations on the long side which were successfully conducted in a number of rails, public utilities and specialties during the morning Call money renewed at 2 per cent

The search for stocks which had not participated in the recent rise brought into view during the afternoon National Railways of Mexico first and second preferred and other equally obscure issues Leathers motor accessories and medium priced railroad shares were taken on an ascending scale Republic Steel common and preferred Soo preferred Cushman and United Railways and Investment preferred yielded ? to 3½ points

The closing was strong

BRYAN MAY MAKE AN EASTERN TOUR

Course Being Urged By Head Of the Ticket and Favorably Considered.

Before starting Friday afternoon for Chicago to confer with party managers at the national headquarters relative to his future speaking engagements Governor Bryan received a letter from his running mate John W Davis in Friday morning s mail which expressed a desire to have Mr Bryan make an eastern tour before the campaign closes

I feel that you can be of great service in the eastern territory said the presidential nominee in his communication adding that while in Chicago recently he had renewed his recommendation to have Governor Bryan sent to that part of the country Arrangements for such a trip Mr Davis stated are already under way

It is probable that the forthcoming tour which the nominee for vice president has been planning through Kansas Oklwahoma New Mexico Colorado Wyoming and South Dakota will be set ahead a week or two so as to fill in the first part of October This would leave a couple of weeks in the latter half which Governor Bryan could devote to states east of the Mississippi river

The understanding is that Davis himself will make another swing through the west next month visiting states which were not included in his early September tour The western states to be covered by the vice presidential nominee are mainly those in which Davis has already spoken.

W. J Bryan Coming.

Another letter has been received from W J Bryan confirming previous information that he would come to Lincoln about the middle of October to see his brother and make up a final schedule of campaign dates for the former W J Bryan will probably speak in Nebraska two or three times later making a trip through other western states and thne returning to wind up the campaign here as he was accustomed to do in his own presidential campaigns

General campaign strategy now being worked out by democratic managers is expected to culminate in a great drive concentrated in pivotal states which they believe can be turned to Davis and Bryan The middle west is regarded as the chief fighting ground and it is to have a maximum share of attention although the east will not be neglected

Governor Bryan will not be in Lincoln when his independent vice presidential rival Senator Wheeler speaks here Saturday evening He will not be back from Chicago until Sunday afternoon or Monday morning There will be no opportunity for photographers to get a picture of Bryan and Wheeler together, as they did of Bryan and Dawes when the latter was in Lincoln over a month ago

HEART ATTACK CAUSES DEATH OF WESTERMANN

engaged in this capacity he rendered some service to the finance office and on the retirement of Dr Bessey as acting chancellor he was appointed accountant in the finance office as assistant to the secretary of the board of regents Judge J S Dales In 1907 he was given the title assistant secretary of the board of regents which he retained until recently when he was made assistant finance secretary The recent change in title was made in accordance with the reorganization of the business offices of the university initiated some time ago

During the greater part of this period he was in charge of the actual book keeping of the finance office and this was his principal occupation during his time of service up to the reorganization of three years ago when the work of the office, owing to the growth of the institution was more definitely subdivided During the last few years he has been in special charge of the personnel records of employees and of the card system of accounts

Treasurer of Athletic Board

"Aside from his faithful services to the finance office he acted as treasurer of a number of important subdivisions of the university s activities and of organizations dealing with the general public Among these may be mentioned his work as treasurer of the athletic board for a number of years He was also treasurer for the memorial gymnasium fund Numerous other minor activities asked for and secured his services from time to time Aside from university matters he rendered important public financial services acting as the representative of the American Society for the Fatherless Children of France not only in the matter of collections and bookkeeping but in securing contributions and in other ways promoting the interests of the society He was informal financial adviser to numerous city and civic organizations and in this way extended his work and influence beyond his university connection

Mr and Mrs Westermann took a prominent part in faculty social affairs and perhaps more than any other member of the business staff mingled in the social life of the city Among the faculty and citizens Mr Westermann had a host of the sudden termination of his work here

"He was the friend and counselor in departmental financial matters of a very large number of the faculty, and also informally assisted them in arranging their private financial affairs when absent on vacations or ill. Few people have had a wider circle of personal friends in the university community than Mr Westermann

During the past thirty six years when the university has made its greatest growth and development he was in continuous service without leave of absence at any time for more than the usual short annual vacation During this period his record shows no leave of absence for illness

There are perhaps only a half dozen men and women now connected with the university in any capacity who have any knowledge of the finance office prior to his coming The present chancellor recalls that as a student here he paid his first fees to Mr Westermann as teller in the finance office His sudden death deprives the university of one of its oldest employes and one who had to an unusual degree blended his life with that of the institution He will be greatly missed by a host of faculty members former students and friends in the city question of selling gasoline up to the people but also of letting them vote on the whole retail question

Sewell Sanderson declared tha we feel very deeply on this subject The city council should take into consideration that we must have retail establishments If the city is going into the mercantile business, that is one viewpoint But what we should do is to get out, or make up our minds that we are going into all retail trades"

Lincoln is becoming a laughing stock in the east ' asserted J C Ridnour Larger cities don t have things of this sort Both Omaha and Lincoln are getting to be considered a joke

R S Proudfit told of the high cost of establishing coal businesses with which he has been engaged in Lincoln for forty five years The dealer he said is entitled to a fair profit which he cannot get in competition with tax free establishments

Called upon for the reason of introducing such a proposition as the gasoline amendment, Commissioner Cowgill said

'The reason was a public demand for a square deal People seemed to think that there should be a steady margin of profit between retail and wholesale prices Had the Standard Oil company and allied dealers come down a week earlier last spring they would have forestalled this whole proposition Twice in the last year and a half the gasoline dealers here have put on their screws and kept them on The price of gasoline at the present time however is very satisfactory

As the delegation had come only to petition the council there was no action taken and the meeting adjourned after Mr Cowgill s address

Mayor Zehrung is still out of the city All other council members were there At its meeting next Monday when the mayor will have returned the council votes on the resolution which Commissioner Cowgill has placed before it. The resolution if passed will put before the voters at the general election November 4 the question of passing or voting down the amendment authorizing the sale of gasoline by the city

FLIERS CONTINUE TRIP SATURDAY

Broken Battery Delays Wade But Navigators Reach San Francisco Safely.

Have Traveled 27,000 Miles In 350 Flight Hours, Log Shows.

(Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The United States army flight around the world, nearing its terminus, Seattle, brought the three planes and their intrepid navigators to Crissy field in San Francisco Thursday.

An accident delayed, but did not mar their arrival. Lieutenant Leigh Wade was forced down at South San Francisco with a broken battery and had to wait while a new battery was rushed to him by motorcycle. Meanwhile the other two pilots, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, the commander, and Lieut. Eric H. Nelson, landed at Crissy field but nineteen minutes after they had expected to alight. Lieutenant Smith, leading, swooped down on the field at 3:19:25 p. m.

Lieutenant Wade, having installed his new battery, reached Grissy field at 4:02 p. m.

The fliers had expected to hop off Friday for Eugene, Ore., enroute to Seattle, but announced they would delay their departure until Saturday.

San Francisco's welcome to the circumnvatigators of the air, was no less lusty than the greetings that have awaited them at every other stop since their return to their own country. The hop from Santa Monica took five hours and seven minutes including the mishap to Wade. When they arrived here the fliers had covered approximately 27,000 miles of their globe flight and had been between 350 and 365 hours in the air, according to a log kept by Lieutenant Leslie T. Arnold, mechanician to Lieutenant Smith.

MAKES ATTACK ON LA FOLLETTE

Cummins Says His Policies Would Vitally Change U. S. Constitution.

Predicts Bryan Will Be President In Case Of Election Deadlock.

(Associated Press.)

OTTUMWA, Ia., Sept. 26.—United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, in an address here last night struck out at what he termed the two "principal phases of platform and well know policies of Senator La Follette"—government ownership of railroads and rescinding the power of the courts to declare an act of congress or of state legislatures unconstitutional."

"Senator La Follete's policies change so vitally the constitution and institutions of our country," Senator Cummins declared, "that we ought to fight them with all our vigor, not for the coming presidential election alone, but for all time to come."

Before taking up the two main topics of his address, Senator Cummins explained the manner in which the congress chooses a president and vice president when the people fail to elect, explaining that he had in mind the "possible or probable situations" that La Follette might carry, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana and Washington and thereby throwing the election into congress.

"It would be absolutely certain," the senate said "that the senate would elect Charles W. Bryan for vice president and the deadlock in the house over a president continuing, Mr. Bryan would on the Fourth of March, 1925, become president of the United States.

"There is no desire to speak disparagingly of Mr. Bryan," Senator Cummins continued, "but it to be assumed in view of the record of his utterances upon public affairs that he would adopt and enforce insofar as he could, those parts of the La Follette platform which constitute the real attack upon American institutions. For many reasons it would be far better to elect Senator La Follette president of the United States than to pursue a course that would result in the promotion of Mr. Bryan to that office. These reasons are obvious to any person who is familiar with the history of the two men and they need not be stated."

Lang Must Serve Extra Time For Breaking Custody

Robert Lang, alias Earl La Rue, 20, was arraigned before Judge Fred Shepherd in district court Thursday afternoon and was given an indeterminate sentence of 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary for escaping custody. He pleaded guilty.

Lang, who had served 11 months of a 2 to 5 year term in the reformatory for men escaped July 17. He was under sentence for stealing an automobile with four accomplices at Chappell. He was recaptured in Chicago several weeks ago

To Drain Lagoon Subject to Flood

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 26.—Farmers in the vicinity of the Anderson lagoon near Kenesaw are preparing to take steps to have the tract of ground, which is periodically flooded, drained.

A petition is being circulated in an effort to get all the district to sign. This will be presented to the board of supervisors and the cost of the project will then be assessed against the acreage affected.

The lagoon covers parts of four sections—a total of about 640 acres. Dykes have been built about some of the land, but they proved inadequate.

ACCUSE OFFICERS OF ABUSING MEN

Taking Of Testimony Begins In Swantowski Murder Trial.

OGALLALA, Neb., Sept. 26.—Following the completion of a jury early in Thursdays proceedings in the trial of Alex Swantowski, charged with the murder of John Jeffres, whose body was found in his burning home here last spring, introduction of testimony was started and well under way when court adjourned. The state is expected to have its case finished by the end of Friday's session.

Alleged third degree methods applied to Swantowski by detectives after his arrest are being given an important part in the defense by attorneys for Swantowski. John Mostek, who testified that he had left Swantowski at Jeffres' home the night the latter is supposed to have been slain, asserted also that he had been subjected to rough treatment. He pointed out Cal Broady, a state enforcement officer, as the man, who, he said, had beaten him, pulled his hair and choked him. At one time, Mostek said, he even told the officer he had killed Jeffres to escape more torment.

Opening statements of defense counsel charged that Tom Carroll, head of the state enforcement bureau, had mistreated Swantowski in an effort to obtain a statement. Art Bramin, city marshal of Ogallala, was similarly accused.

Frequent clashes between attorneys concerning the admissibility of circumstantial evidence marked Thursday's proceedings.

CLUB PICNIC IS ENJOYED BY MANY

Twelve Hundred Members Take Part in Festivities at Saltillo Park.

Twelve hundred members of the Lincoln Auto club took part in the club's annual picnic and entertainment Thursday evening at the park seven miles south of town. Games and stunts were held on the green after a large number of guests had arrived about 5 o'clock, then there was a picnic dinner. There was dancing in the evening.

W. C Beachly, Harry Forney, Guy Green, N. Ray Hall, Alex Kerakedes and W. J. Kirkbride had charge of arrangements. Mr. Kirkbride was master of the games and flourished a blank cartridge pistol to start the races off.

The park had been much changed since most of the members visited it last. The road leading in is graveled, and a fence has been placed around the whole property. Rules will soon be in force allowing only a limited number of guests to attend, and the caretaker's house has been moved to the gate so that this order may be carried out.

O. B. Anderson and a tumbling team from the Y. M. C. A gave a gymnastic act about dinner time, and Gus Miller's orchestra played. The Serenaders provided music for the evening dances.

In the races and contests, boxes of candy were given the winners as follows:

Jimmie Hosburgh, 2345 Bradfield drive, and John Hoppe, 2303 Harrison street, first and second in the small boys race; Wendell Croth, Harold Hoppe, 2303 Harrison street, and Richard Joy, 948 South Eleventh street, intermediate boys' race; Gertrude Bentz, 2345 B street, and Elenore Kelley, 730 South Eleventh street, girls' balloon race; Harriet Carter, 1515 Washington street, and Margaret Pape of Cheney, girls' slipper kick, Mrs. J. S. Brown, 1448 B street, and Alberta Tomkinson of Malcolm, ladies' rope walking contest. J. L. Rigeman of Route 1, and Prof. E. H. Barbour, men's rope walking contest.

Each family brought its own lunch for the evening meal, and the committee furnished hot coffee, ice cream and cake.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, care takers of the auto club's tourist park in Lincoln.

To All My Sex

I offer what made and kept my beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

For 40 years I have lived a life of glory. All because of wondrous beauty and perennial youth. Some of you remember me 25 years ago when I was the rage of New York. Some of you now see me daily on the stage, looking like a girl of 19.

Yet I was a plain girl. My mother took me in a world-search for the greatest beauty helps in existence. France's great experts gave me the best they knew. And for 30 years they have supplied me every new discovery.

I feel that millions should enjoy the benefits I got. So I have combined all these beauty helps in four preparations. And I am placing them, as a duty to my sex, at every woman's call.

One Is a Super-Clay.

Clay is our greatest aid to youth and beauty. It has always been. Famous beauties have for ages gained their fame through clay. And millions now show the new beauty clay can bring.

But there is a new-type clay, perfected by many years of scientific study. It is not crude and muddy, like the old-type clays, but white, refined and dainty. It combines two clays with nine added factors which bring multiplied results.

My White Youth Clay is this new type. It is clean and fragrant. It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It draws out the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women with one application seem to drop ten years. To every girl and woman it will bring a revelation. The cost is 50 cents and $1.

Two Super-Creams.

Two matchless creams have been perfected for me by some of the world's leading experts. They combine 18 great beauty helps. No other cream I ever tried in any way compares.

My Youth Cream is a cold cream. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to foster and protect the skin.

I use it after my Clay. Also as a night cream. Also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. And my complexion — like a child's—shows what those creams can do. My Youth Cream comes in cold cream and vanishing types. Either costs 60 cents.

Facial Youth is the liquid cleanser which I owe to France. All the greatest beauty experts now employ it. But some charge $3, some $5 for it, so most women have not enjoyed it.

Facial Youth contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, dead skin and clogging matter come out with it. You will learn for the first time what a clean skin means when you try my Facial Youth. The cost is 75 cents.

My Luxuriant Hair.

My hair is my greatest glory — thick and lustrous, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never known falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray. Few girls or women have hair like mine.

This I owe to my Hair Youth, another French creation. I apply it with an eye-dropper directly to the scalp. This does not muss the hair. It combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stifle the hair roots. I pity any man or woman who neglects that. My Hair Youth costs 50 cents and $1 with eye-dropper.

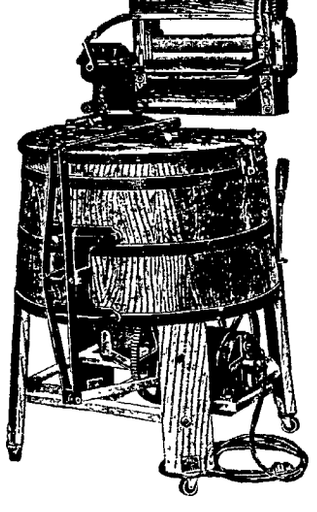

All druggists and toilet counters now supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty helps. With each one comes my Beauty Book and my guarantee. Try one of them and you will use them all, as every woman should. Go try the one you need most—now. You will thank me for it. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.
